Ten years of eloquent leadership cannot help but leave a permanent imprint on the life of a school. Through his genuine concern for the individual and his response to the challenges of change, he has shaped the standards that are the foundation of Kent. His scholarly dignity blended with an easy manner have constituted an irreplacable presence ~ one which will always be missed.

With grateful appreciation
we the class of 1974 dedicate our yearbook to

ACTIVITIES...

The Flick Off

Sans Mots...

Tolerance, patience and more have all gone to comprise an unobtrusive dedication to our sometimes chaotic class.

Thus for her unheralded diligence, the Class of 1974 would like to give special thanks to

Alice Knox

Wendy Wolf

Salade Niçoise

As a light but modish luncheon, this salad is sure to appeal to the most delicate appetite. But preparation requires diligence and good taste.

Cordy Gould

Shepherd's Pie Supreme

— for 'meat and potato' lovers, but marinated in zesty sauce.

— flavor best attained when cooked with complimentary food.

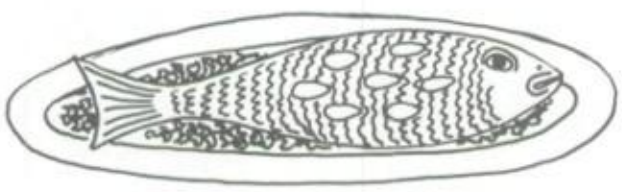
Sally Shafroth

Presidential Platter

~ a concoction of assorted cold cuts garnished with Wild West sauce.

~ a must with cocktails.

Heidi White



Trout Amandine
~use freshly caught fish. Sautée lightly and garnish with blanched almonds.
~the most pleasant of entrées.

Lisa Barlow

Soprano Soufflé
~a lot of preparation required but final result delicious and easily digestable.

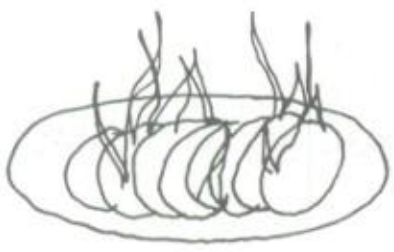
Sue Cavness



Crèpe Flambée

~ requires exuberant cooking skills.
~ contains rich and varied ingredients.
~ serve bubbling hot.

Julie Olsen

Sausage Treat

This is a simple down to earth meal of German hot Dogs spread with Horse radish.

Debbie Welles

Euell Gibbons Stew

"Some parts of a pine tree are edible."
—especially good in this recipe which goes over well with large groups.

Sandy Turner

Popover

~ an especially useful recipe as the same batter can be used for traditional yorkshire pudding.
~ must be timed perfectly – do not overcook.
~ serve with peach jam to make a jolly snack.

Mary Ellen Cuthbertson

Uncompahgre Salad

~ for this salad, use only organic ingredients
— preferably freshly picked, but not from a wilderness area.

Lorraine Higbie

Picnique à la Français

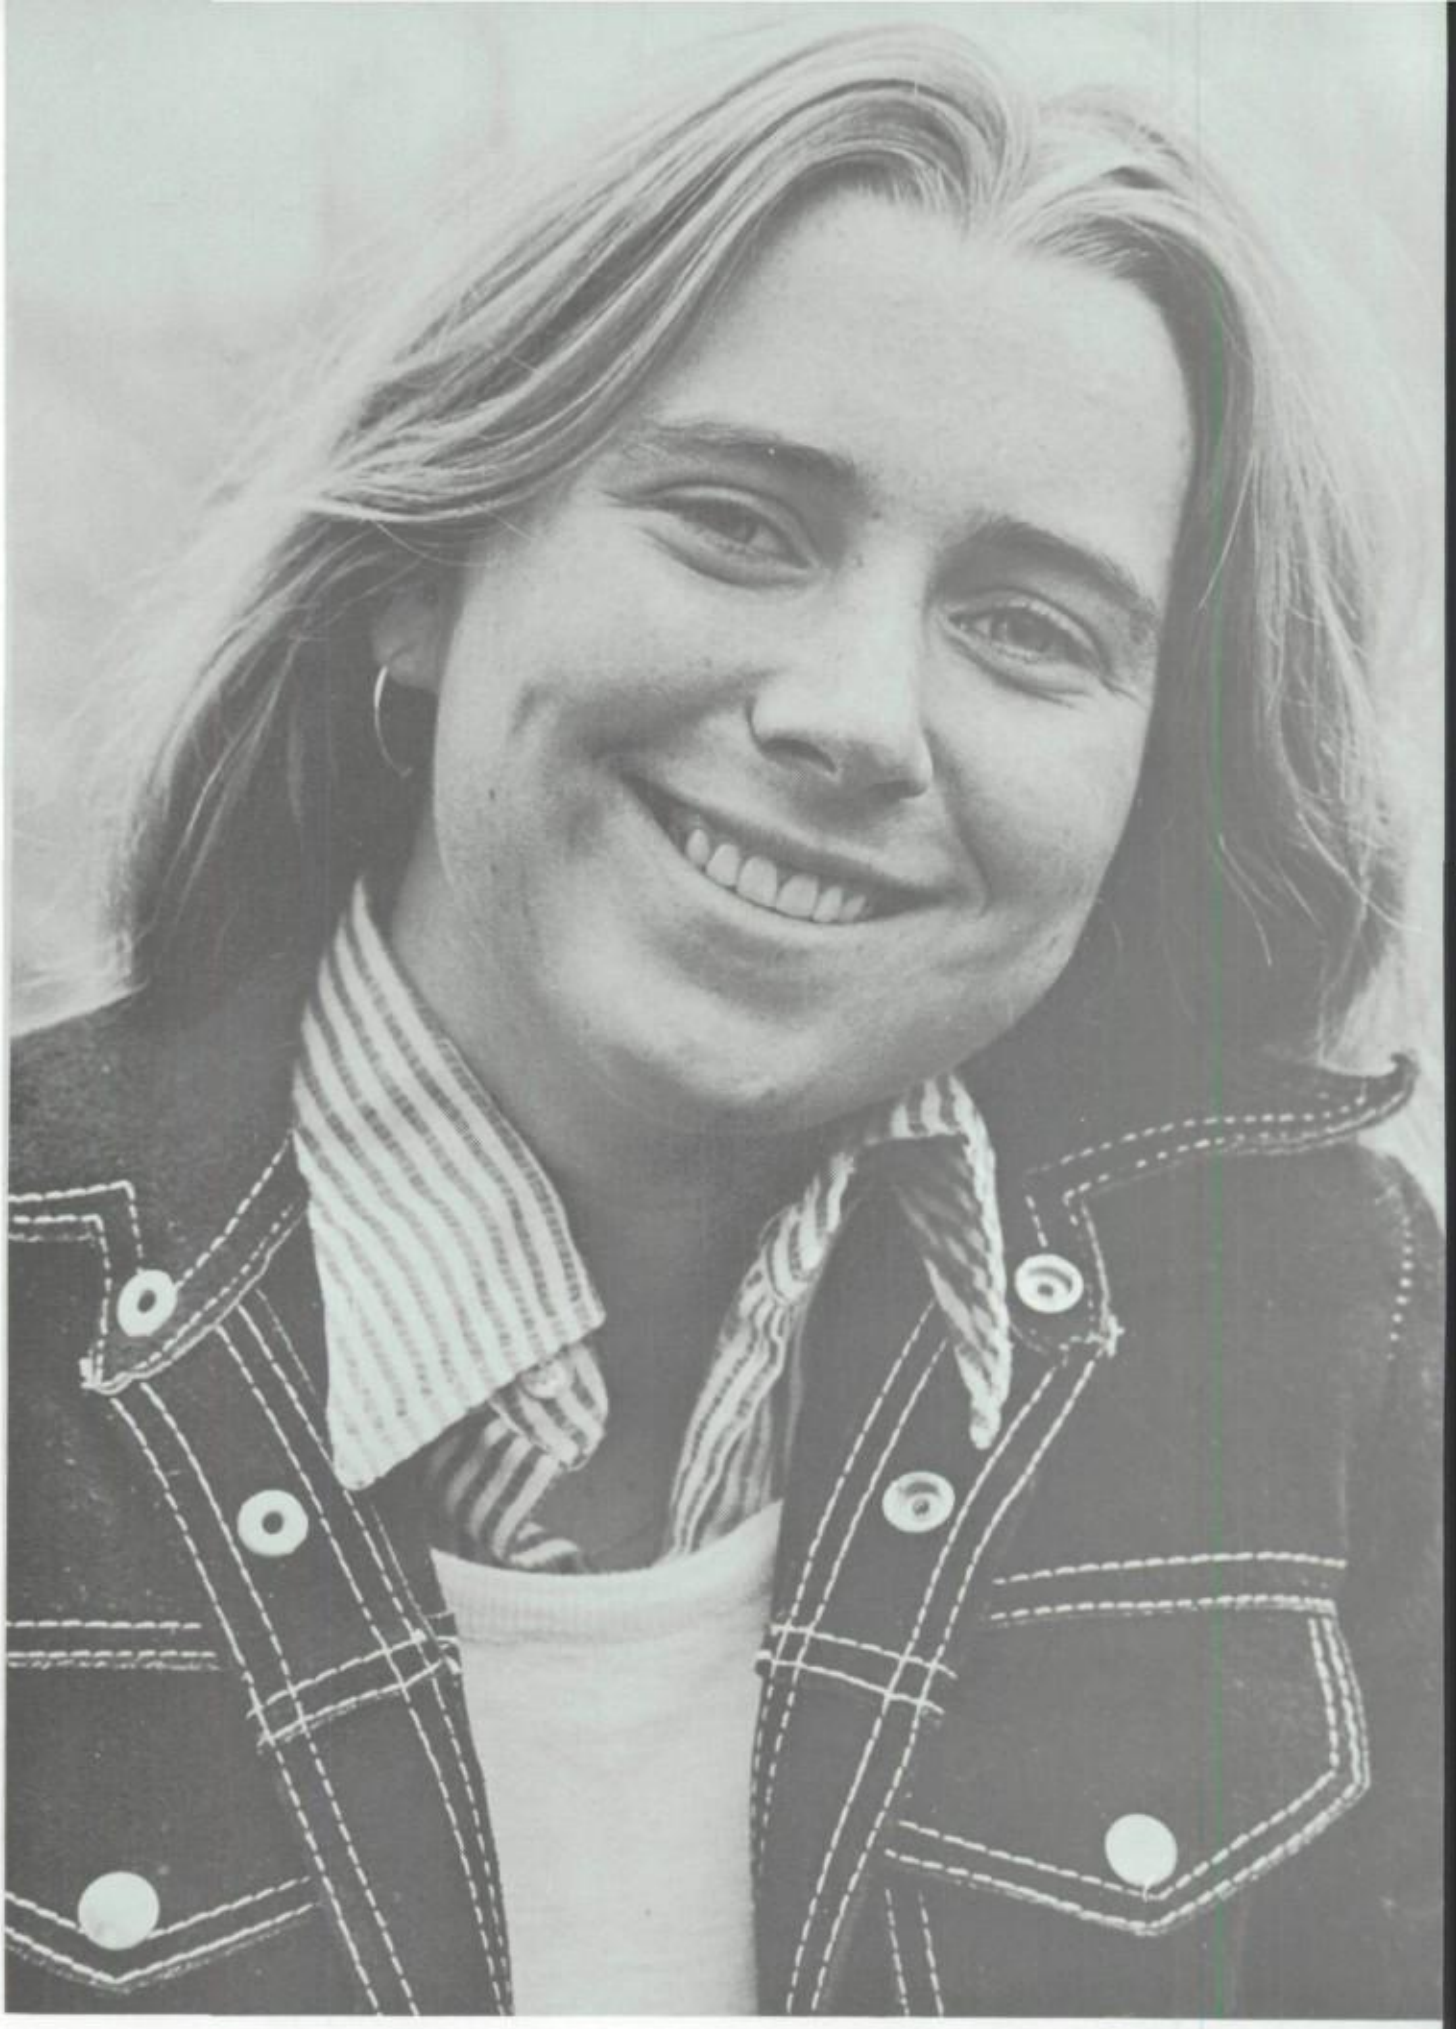
Bored with the humdrum? There's nothing like the ever-popular wine picnic to brighten up a climbing expedition or spring ski outing.

~ use French bread and mild cheese.

~ wine essential.



Priscilla Nawn

Boston Baked Beans

This eastern favorite should be served with a lively sauce.
~Great with "Koesher" hot dogs.
~cooked slowly has expressive flavor.

Lois Toll

Hunt Brunch

~ the traditional meal after a morning's ride. For those who enjoy a wholesome and hearty repast, this is a winner.

Pamela Smith

Agneau à la Grecque

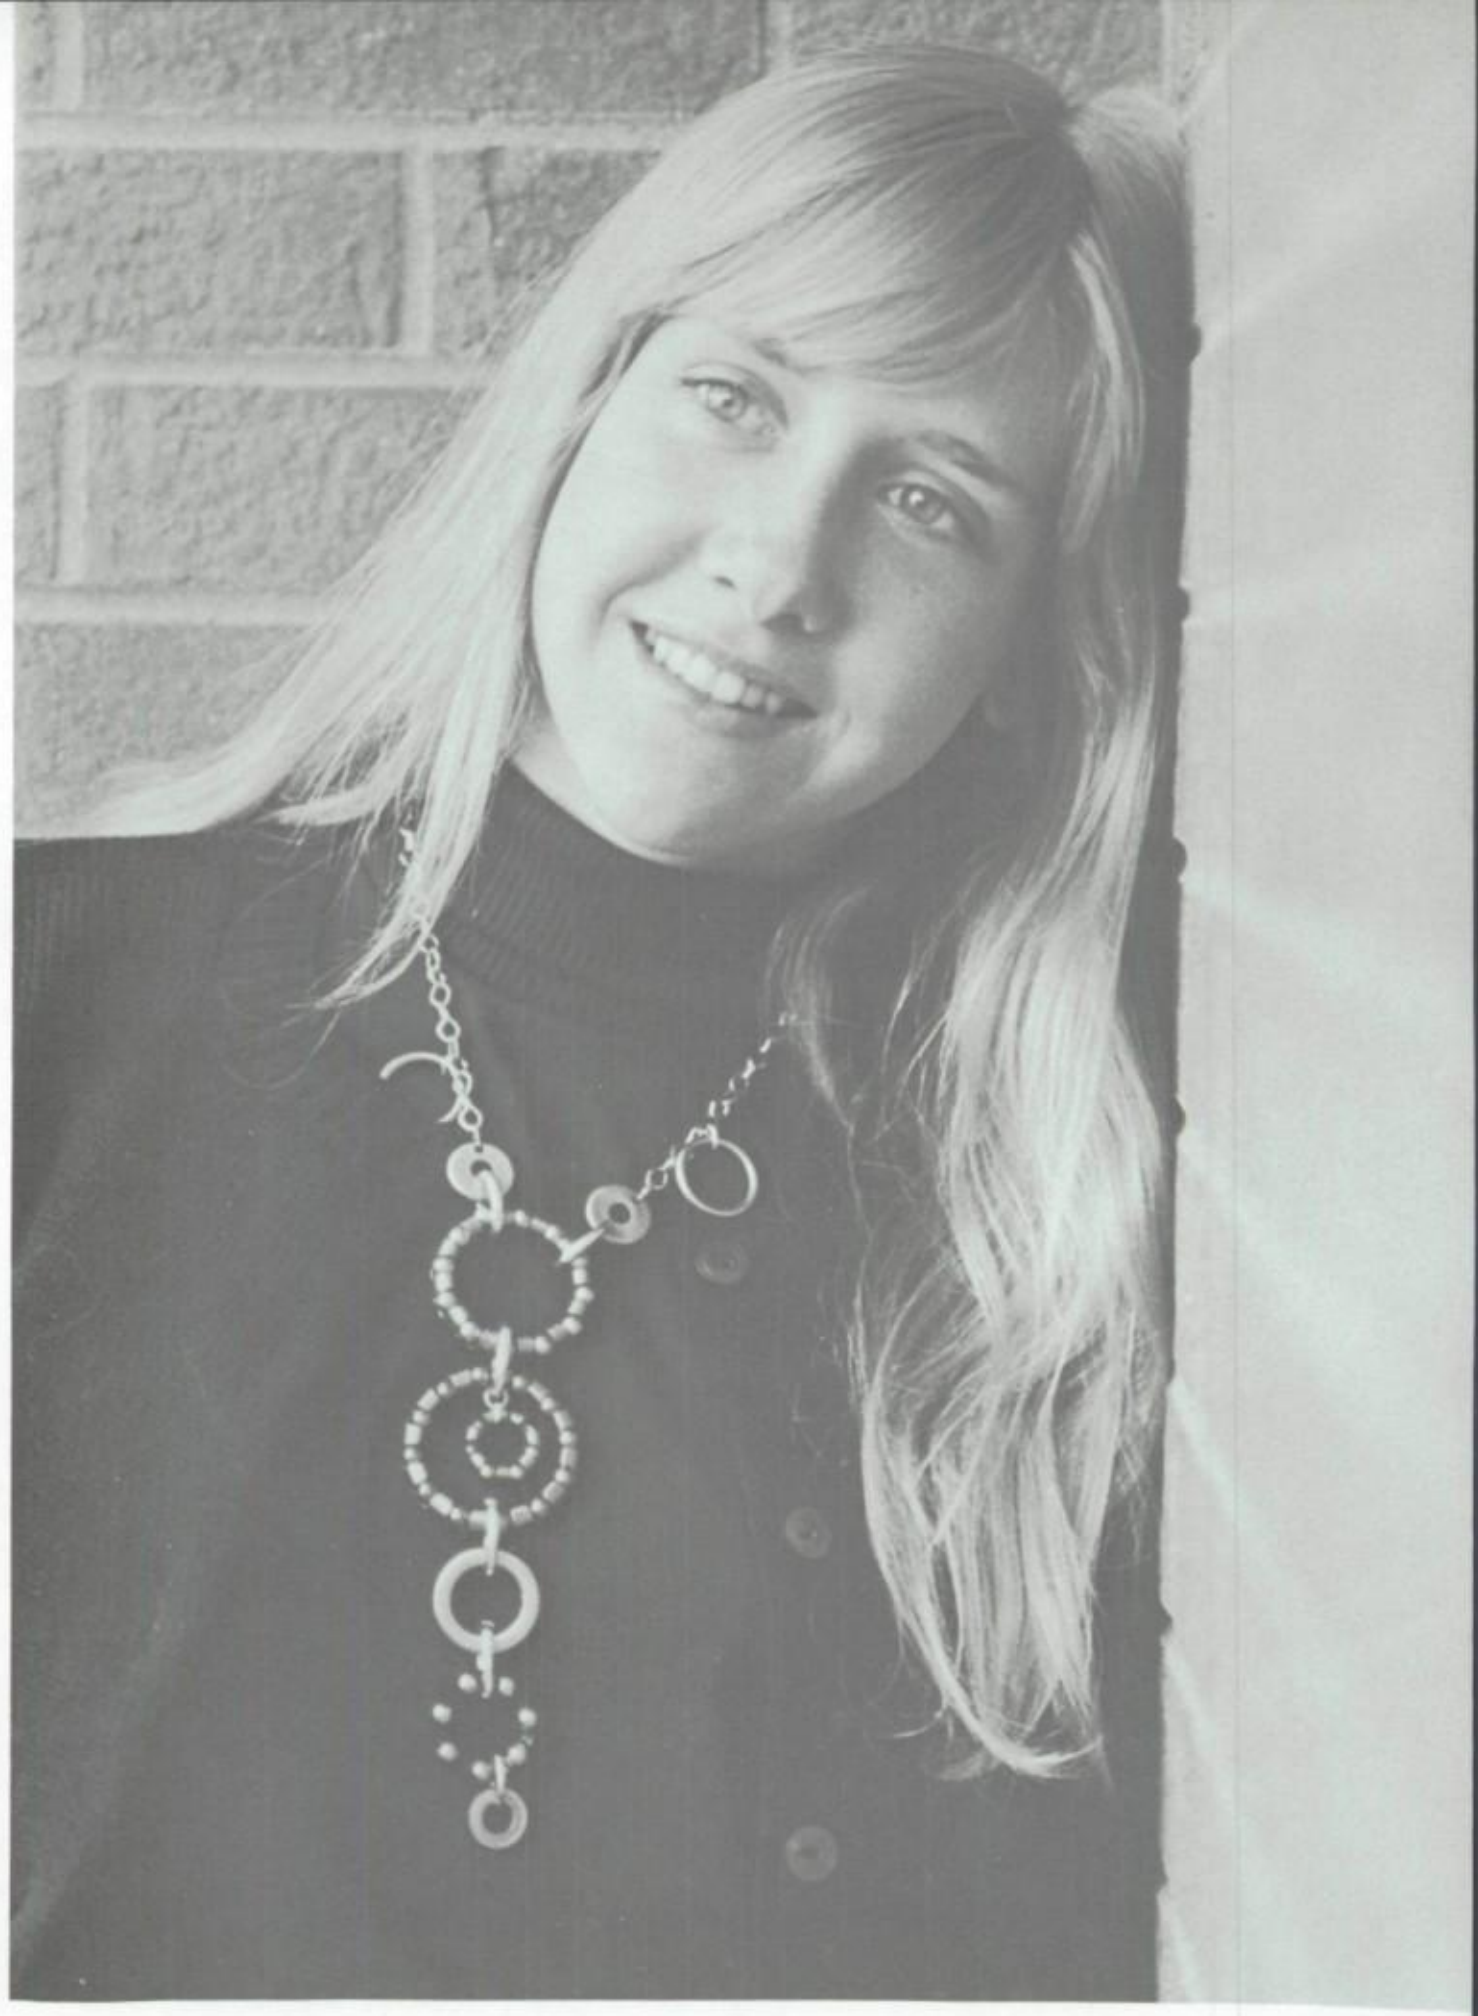
A true masterpiece, this creative entrée is always appreciated.

~ enhanced by a cream sauce which never curdles.

Debbie Hewlings

Zabaglione

~ a light meal for a petite eater, but sweet and refreshing.
~ to be followed by a demi-tasse.



Courtney Claussen

пелбмени

Unostentatious but substantial, this Russian staple is extremely successful.
~ good for all occasions.

Susie Cotton

Peaches à la Crème

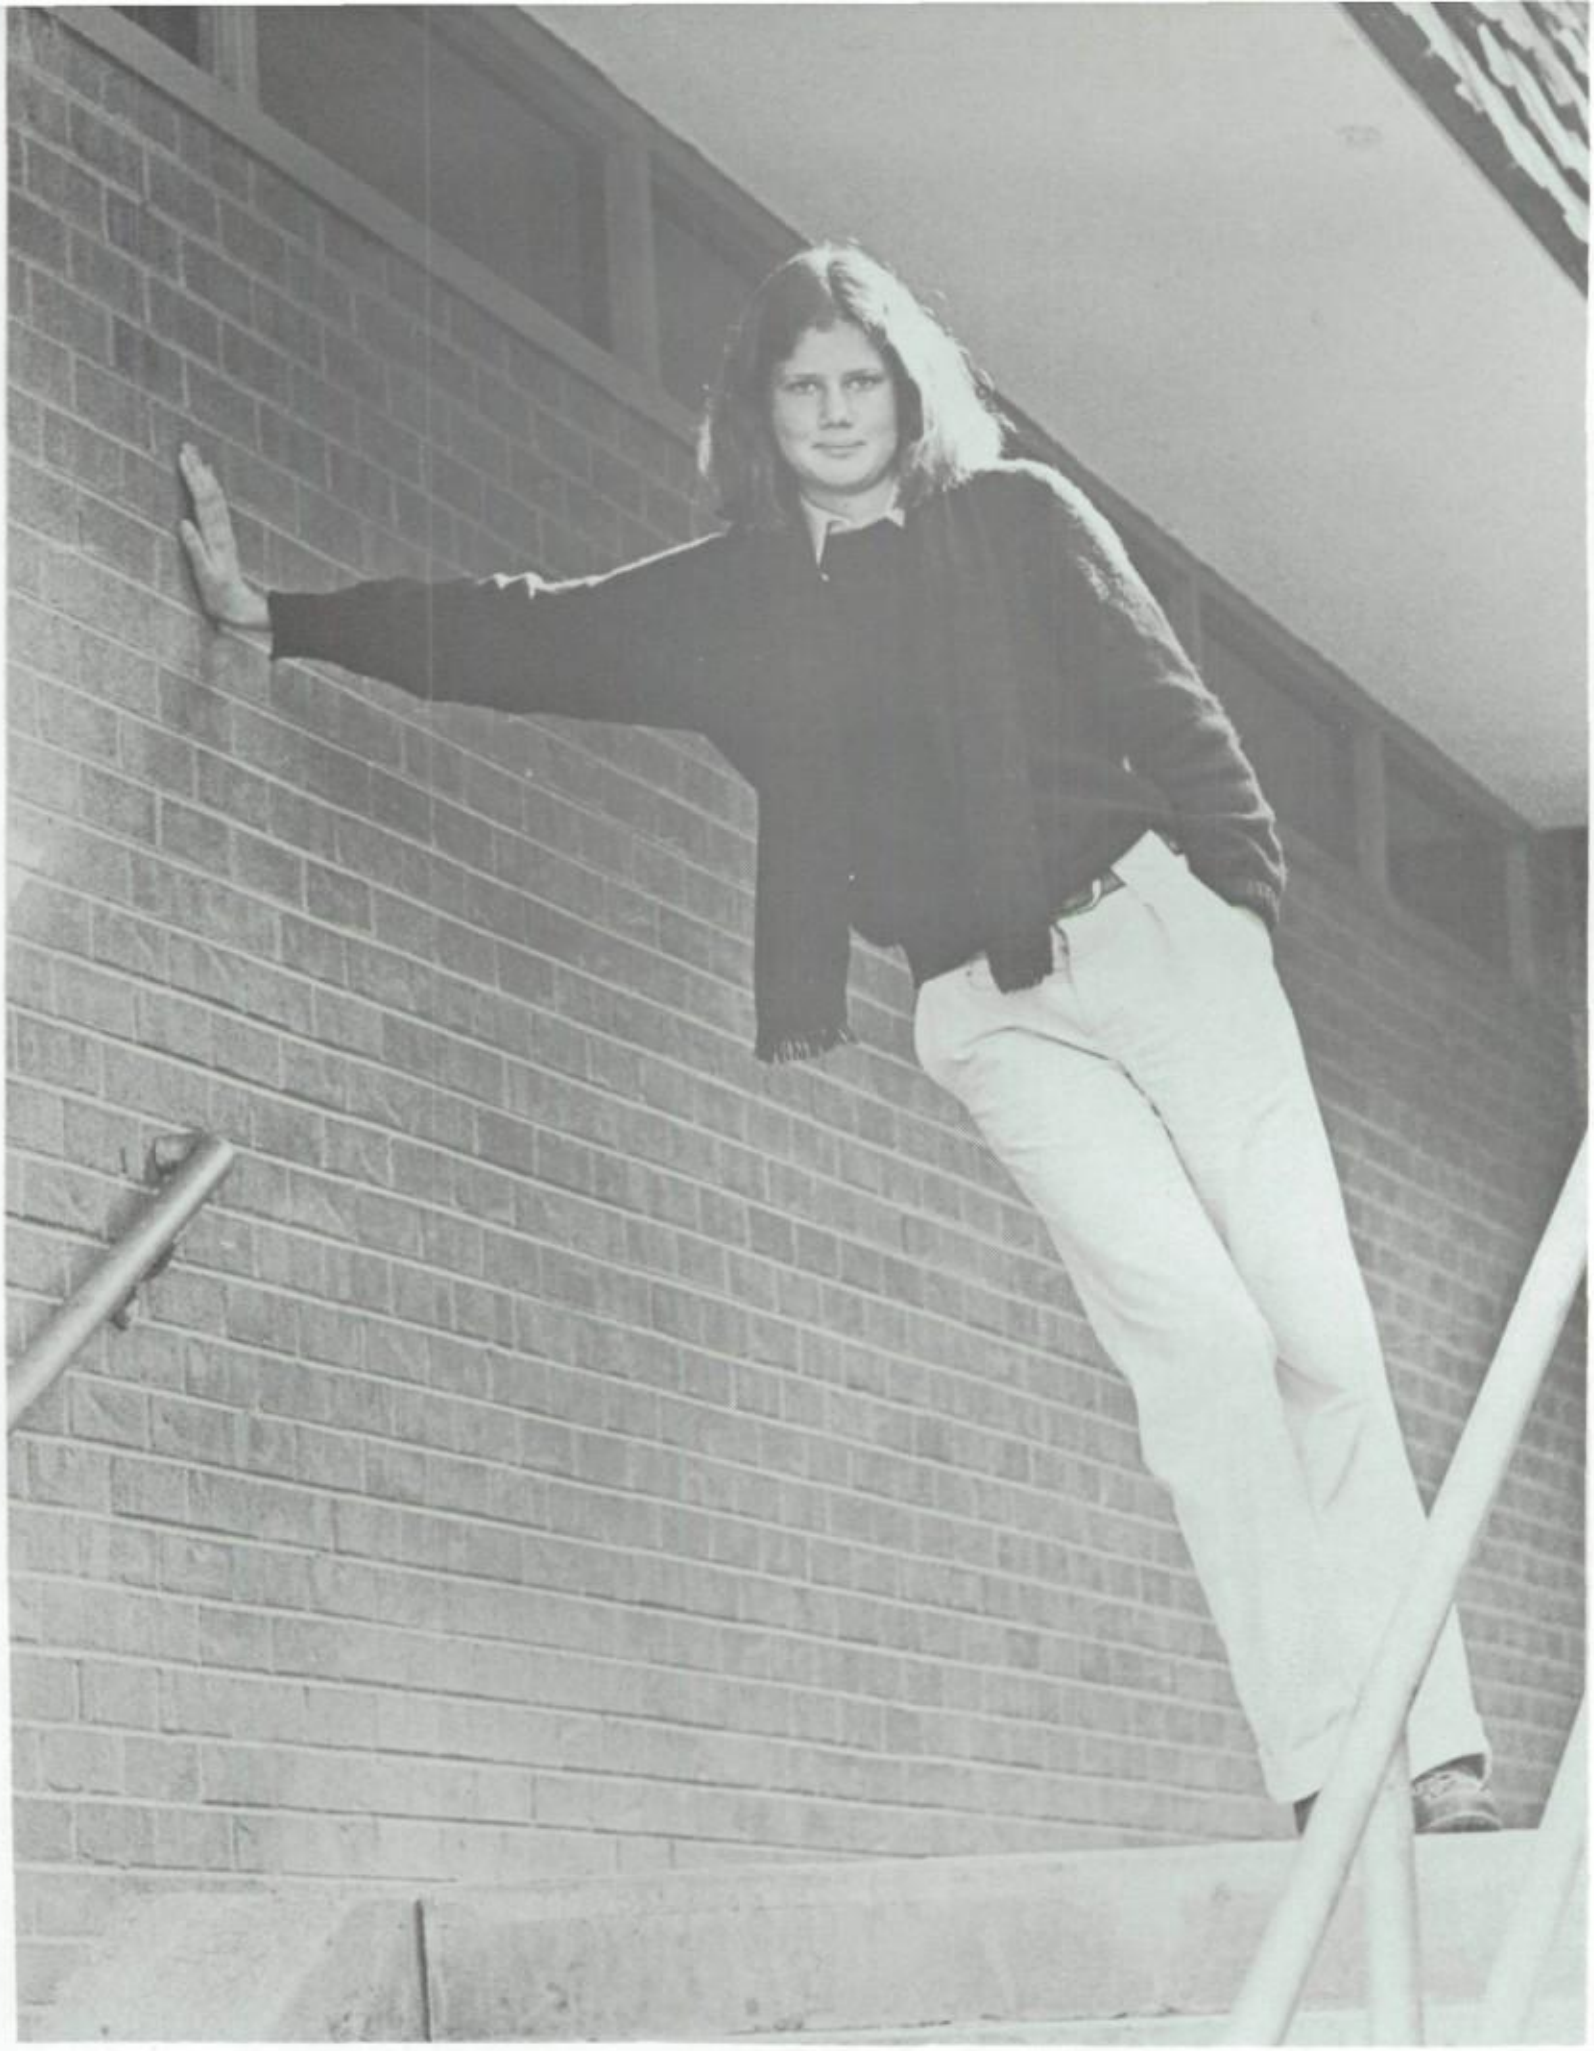
— a favorite dessert of fresh peaches and cream, eaten with homemade raisin cookies.
— make sure the peaches are ripe and blushing.



Alice Jump

Bracing Hot Spiced Wine
~ nothing like hot spiced wine to loosen the tongue and sharpen the wit.
~ often succeeded by the appetizing ensemble of a Dr. Pepper and a stick of gum.

Cheri Toney

Popcorn

There is nothing like hot buttered popcorn to liven up any occasion.
~ essential at sports events.
~ definitely addictive.

Robin Nelson

Gateau Ravissant
~ a light flaky cake that melts in one's mouth.
~ ressembles the best of French pastries.

Dawn Dykema

Curried Concoction

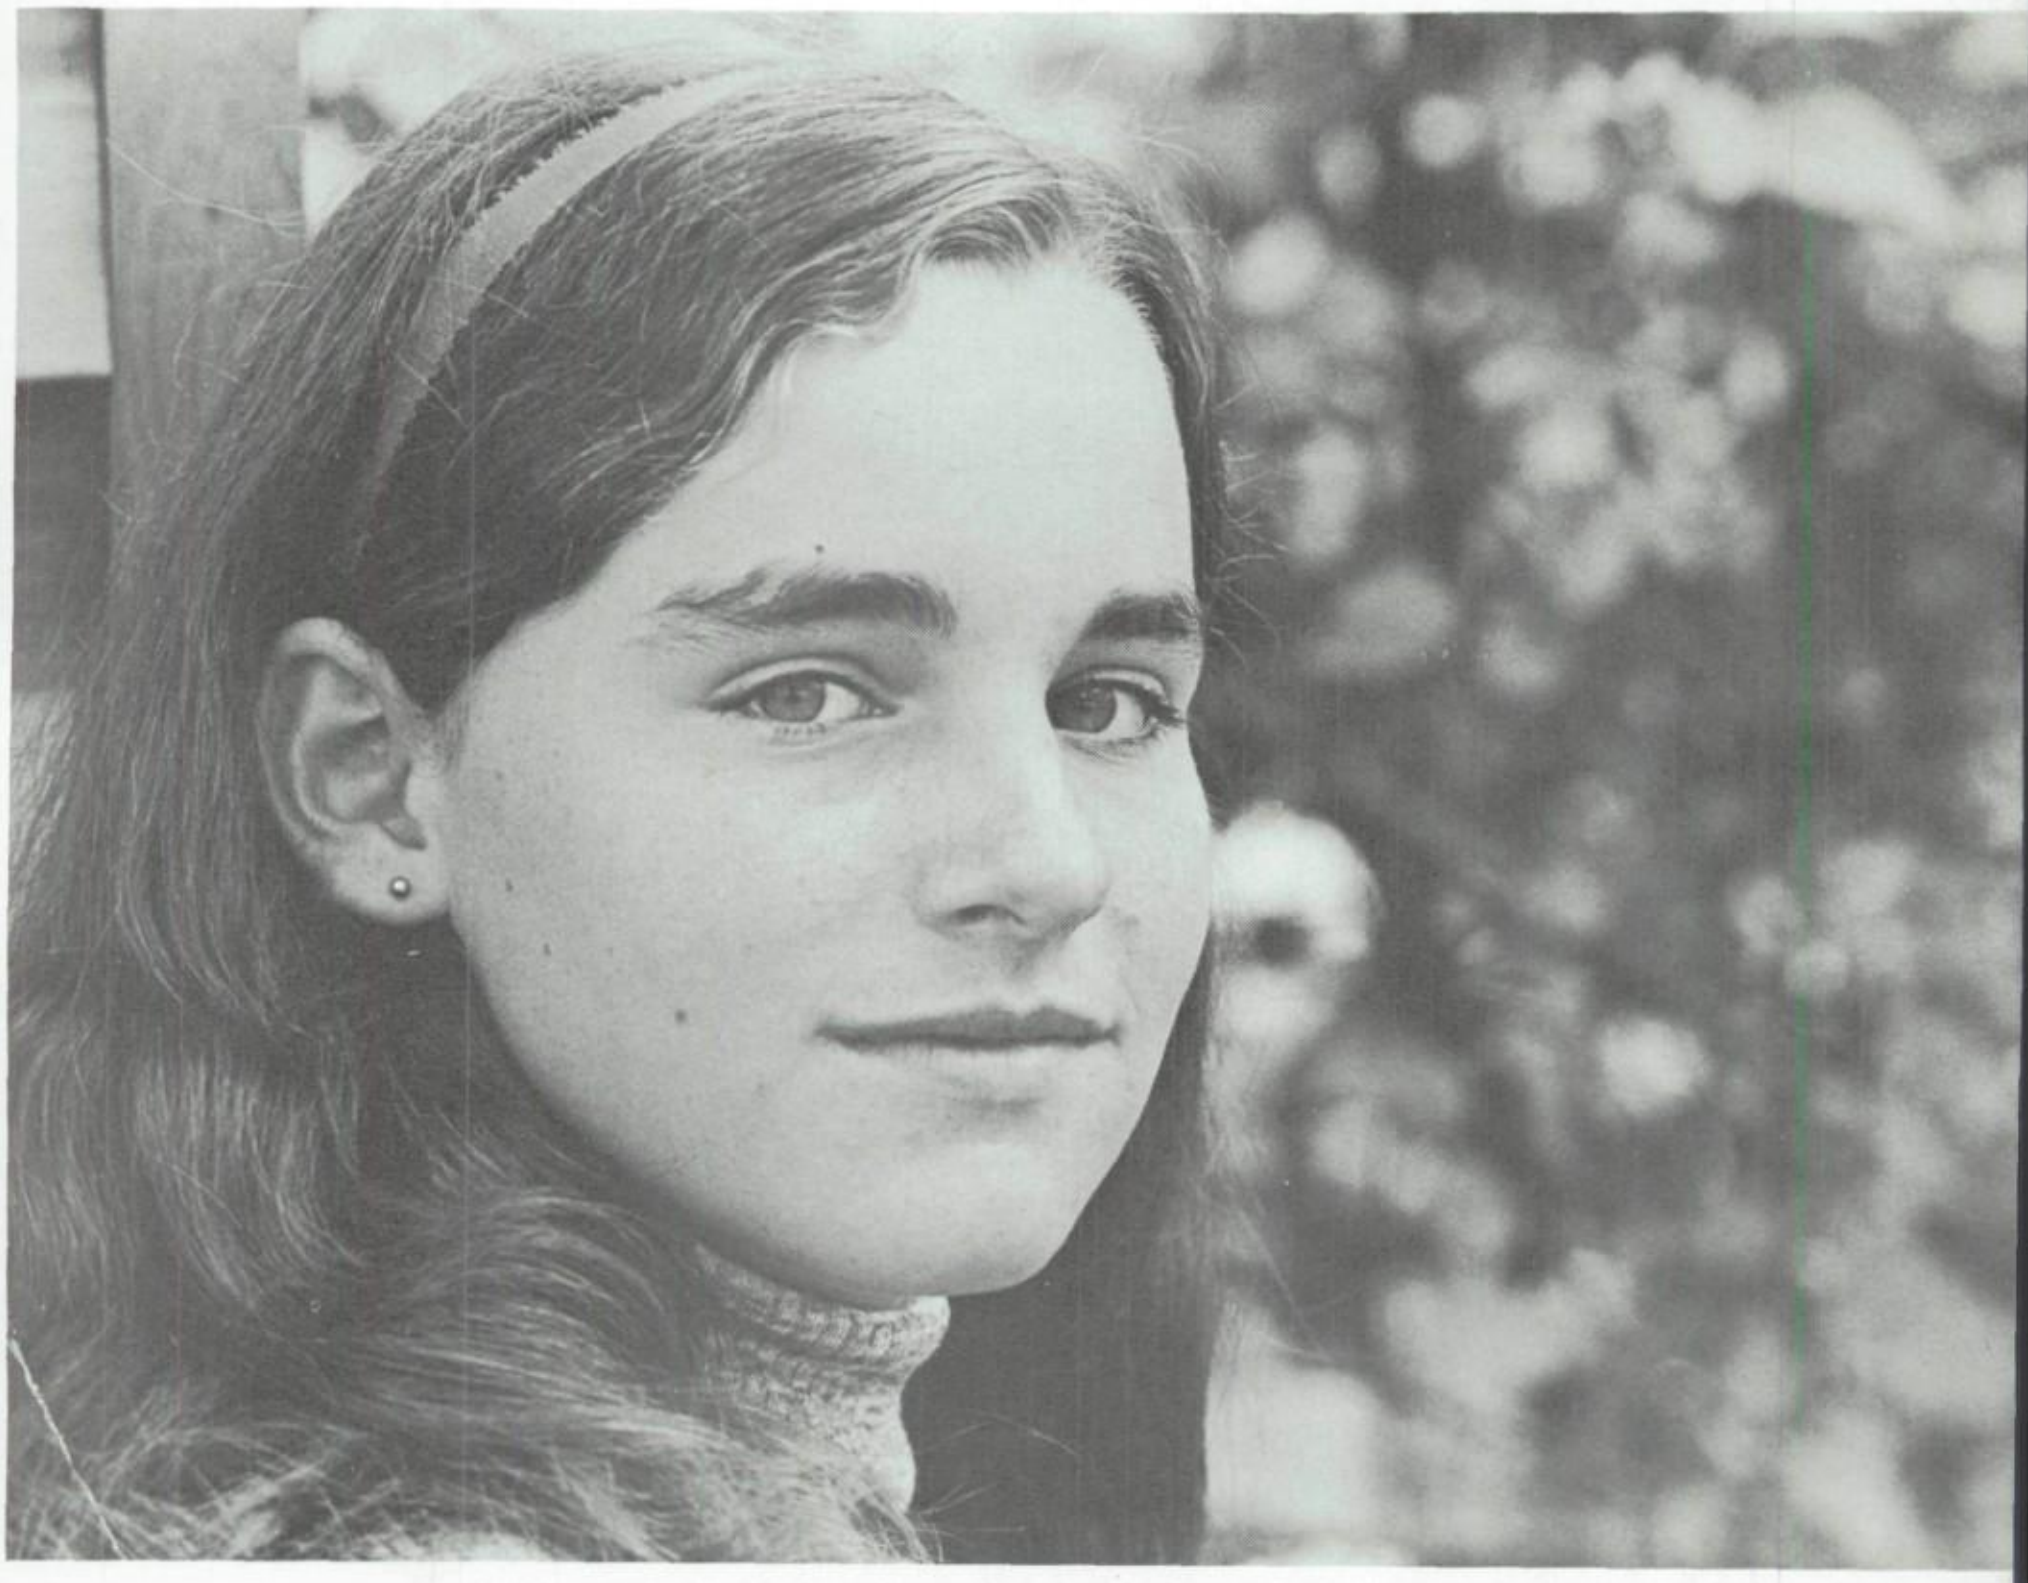
~ preparation requires serious contemplation.
~ need not follow recipe exactly – use natural ingredients and your own judgment.



Maureen Kelly

Burrito

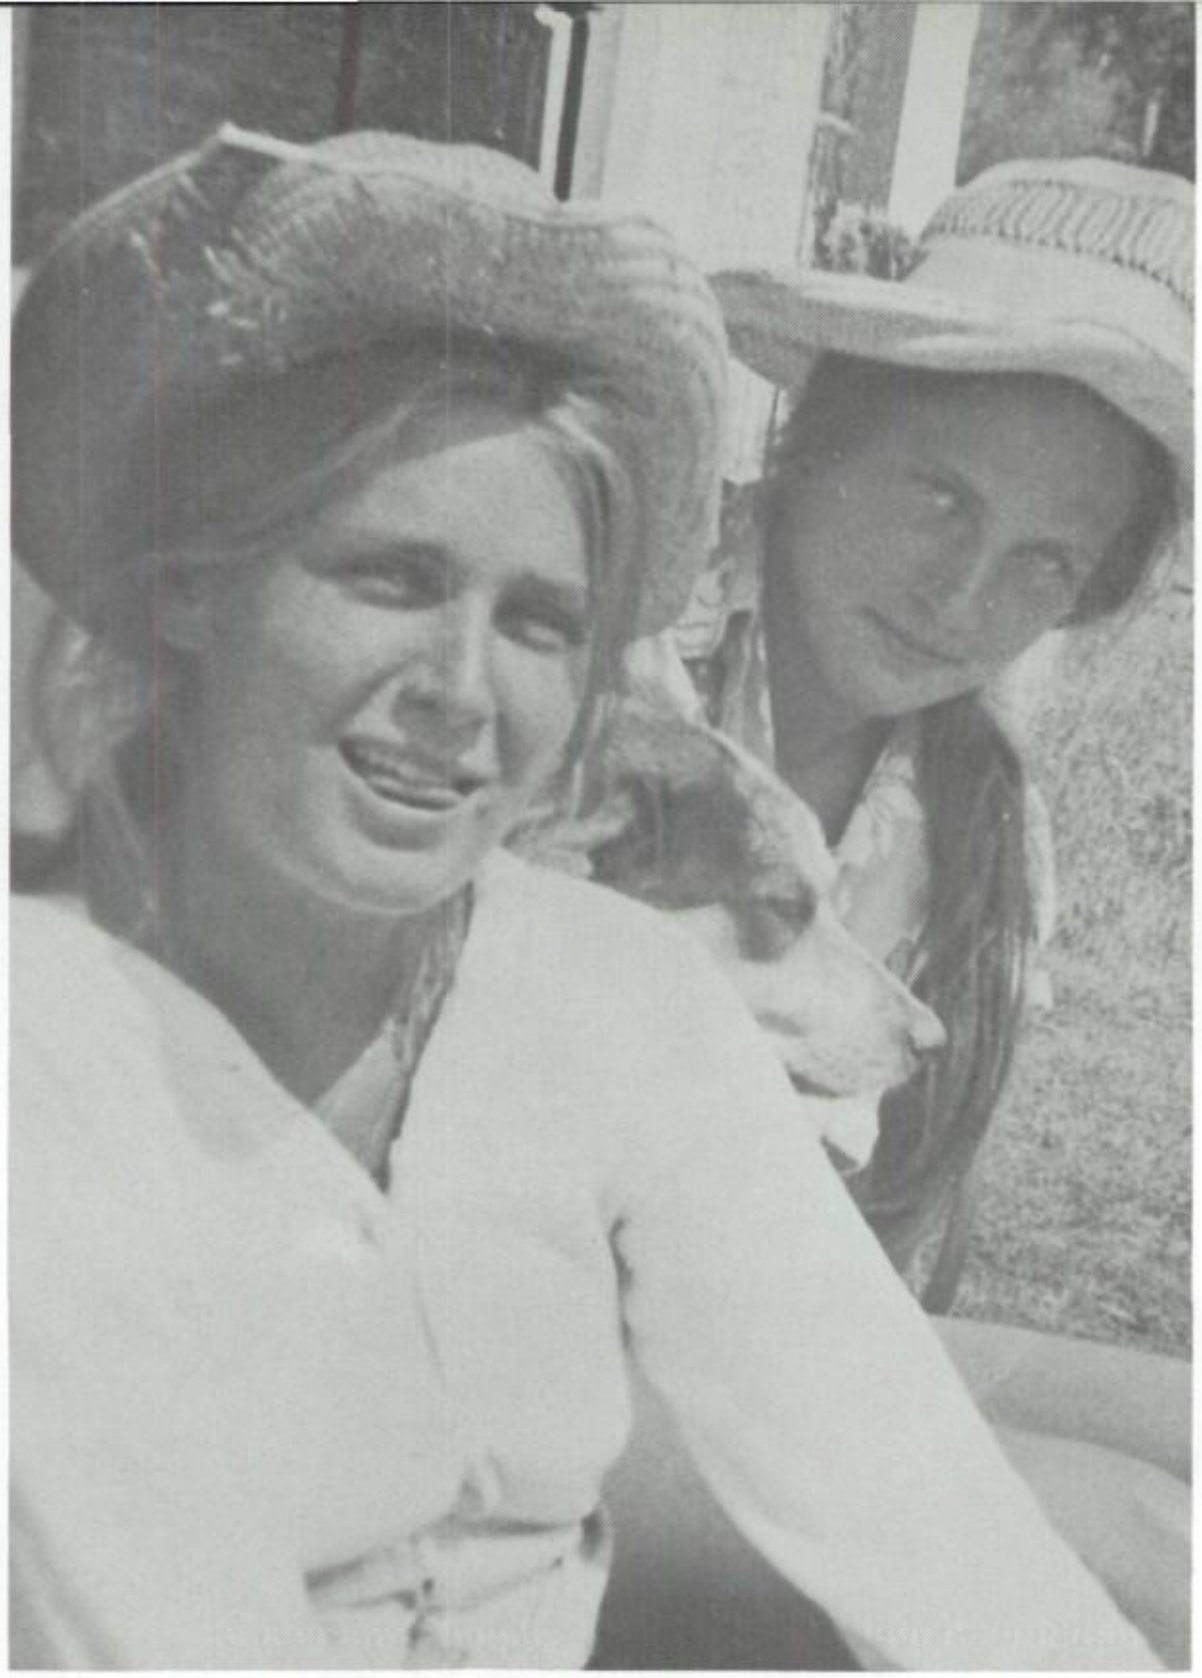
~first course to lead off meal.
~tangy Mexican flavor but very nourishing.
Make sure to use only Grade-A meat.

Paula Houston

Casserole du Jour

~ a stylish string bean mixture, garnished exotically.

~ tricky to prepare but tasty.



Shawn O'Laughlin

Rita Barnes

Rambling Ragout

~ sophisticated entrée
~ when served with country treat makes unbeatable combination.
~ most amusing to company.

Range Stew

~ favorite country treat ~ definite homegrown flavor.
~ serve simply without lavish additions.

Mary Arthur

Continental Casserole

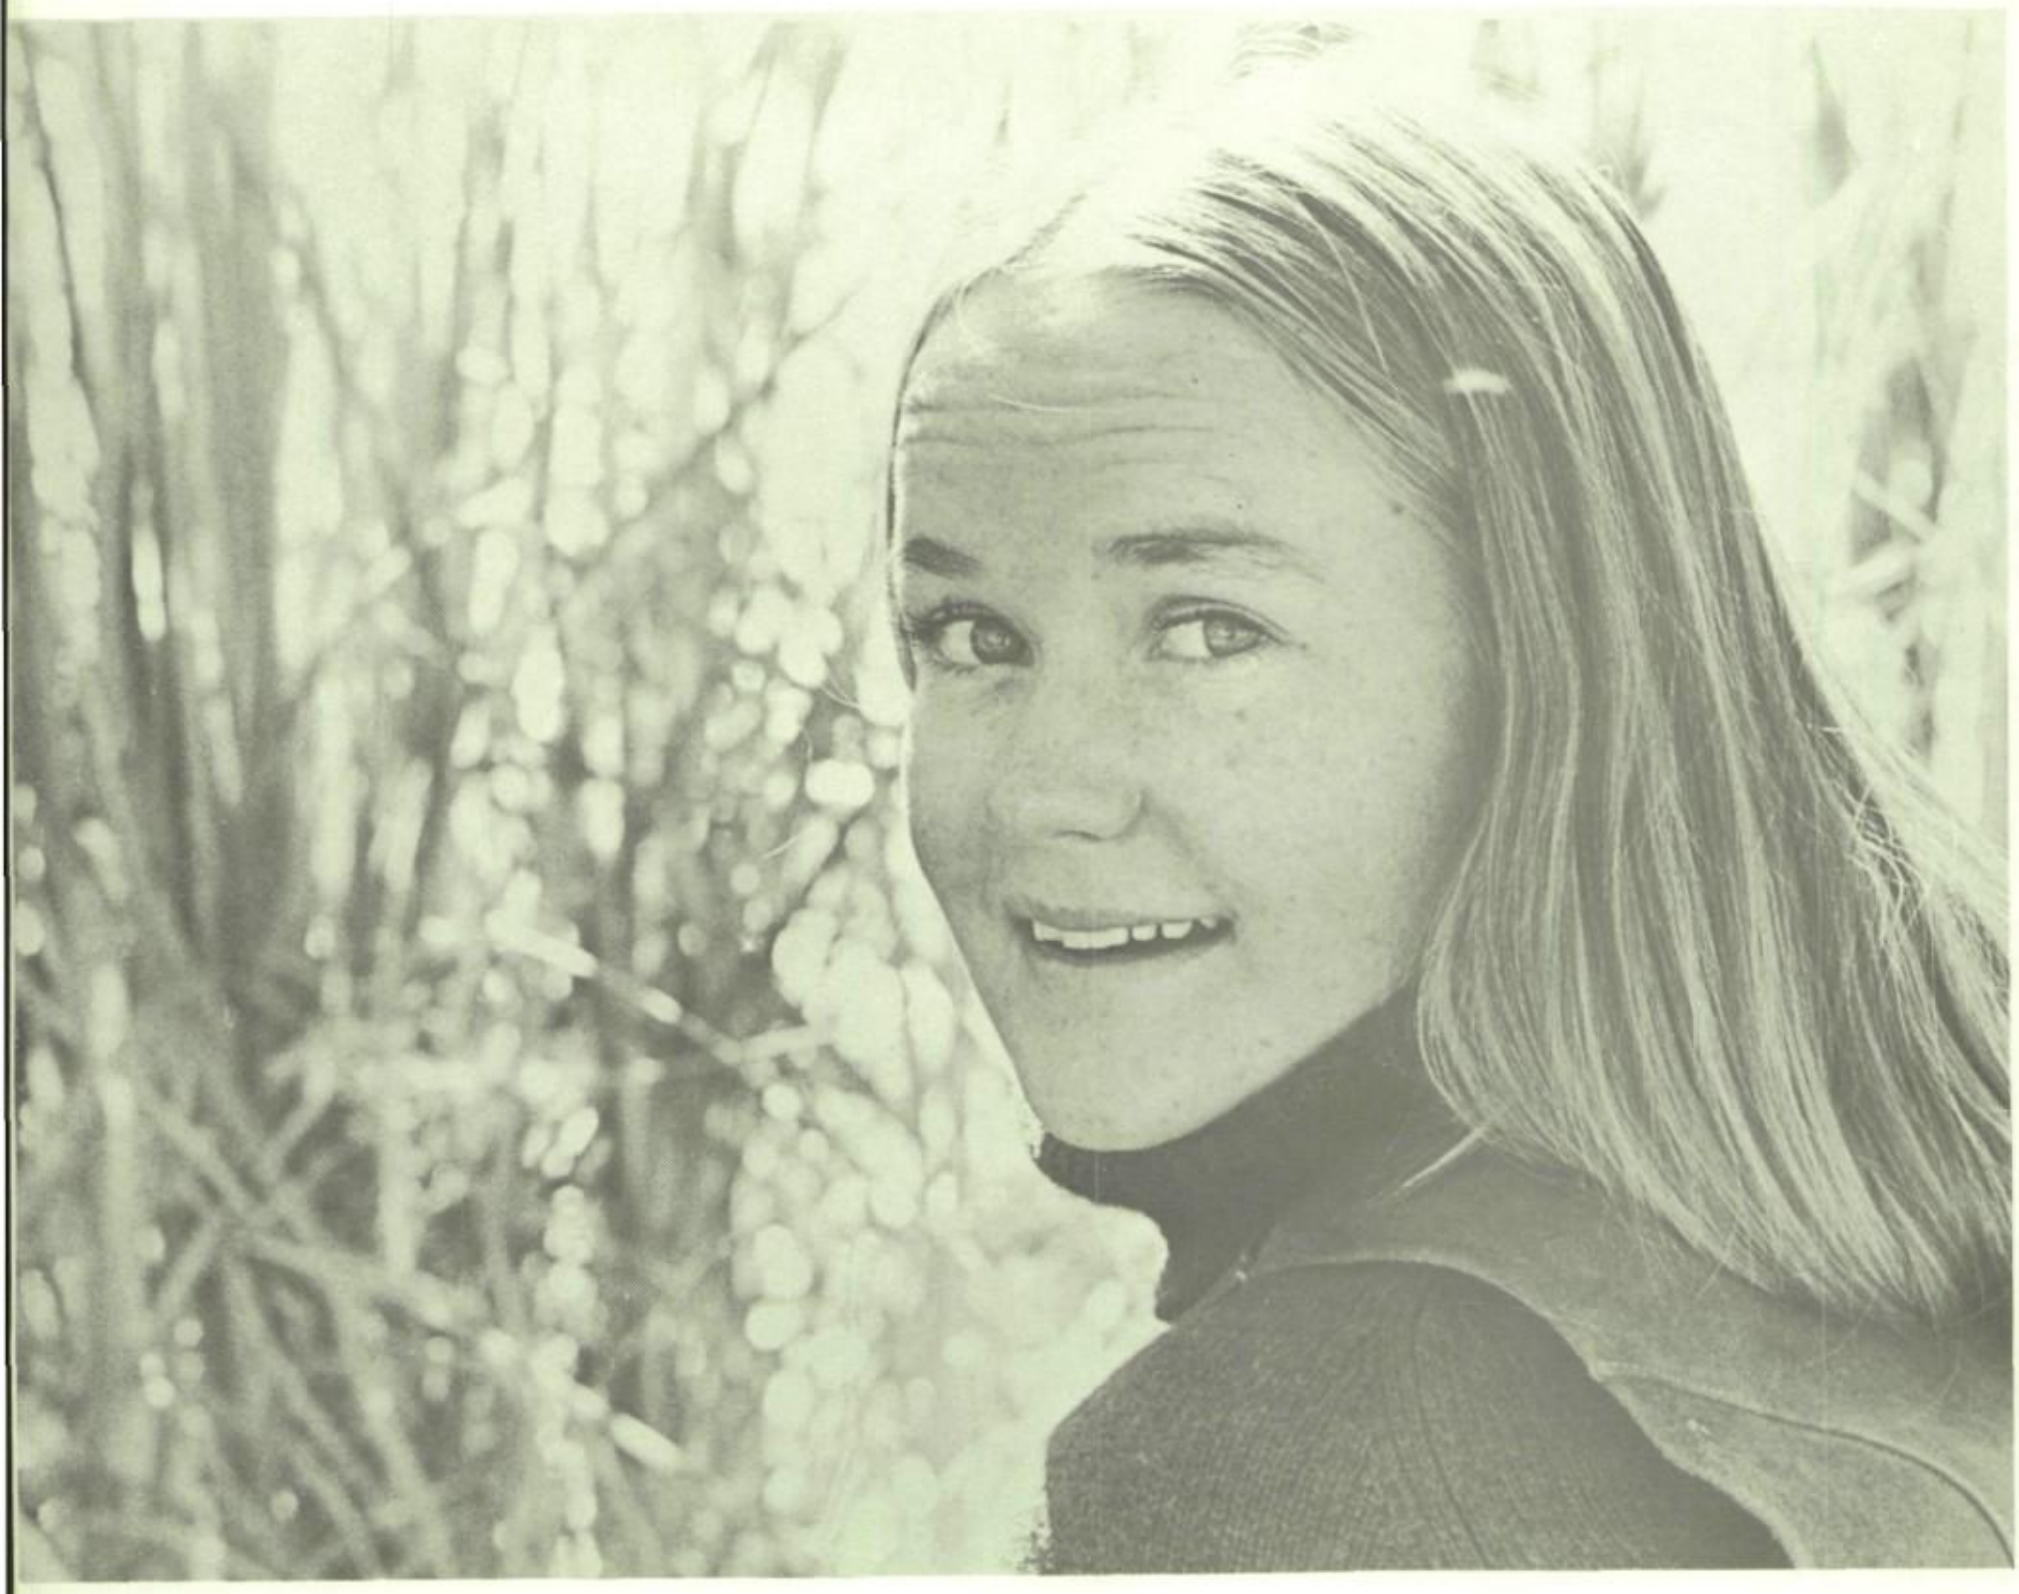
~A wholesome, healthy food with a distinctly European flavor. Better if you can get to France to eat it.

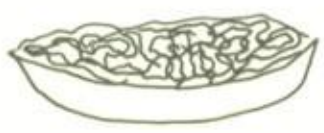
Vicky Goodin

Brandy Pudding.

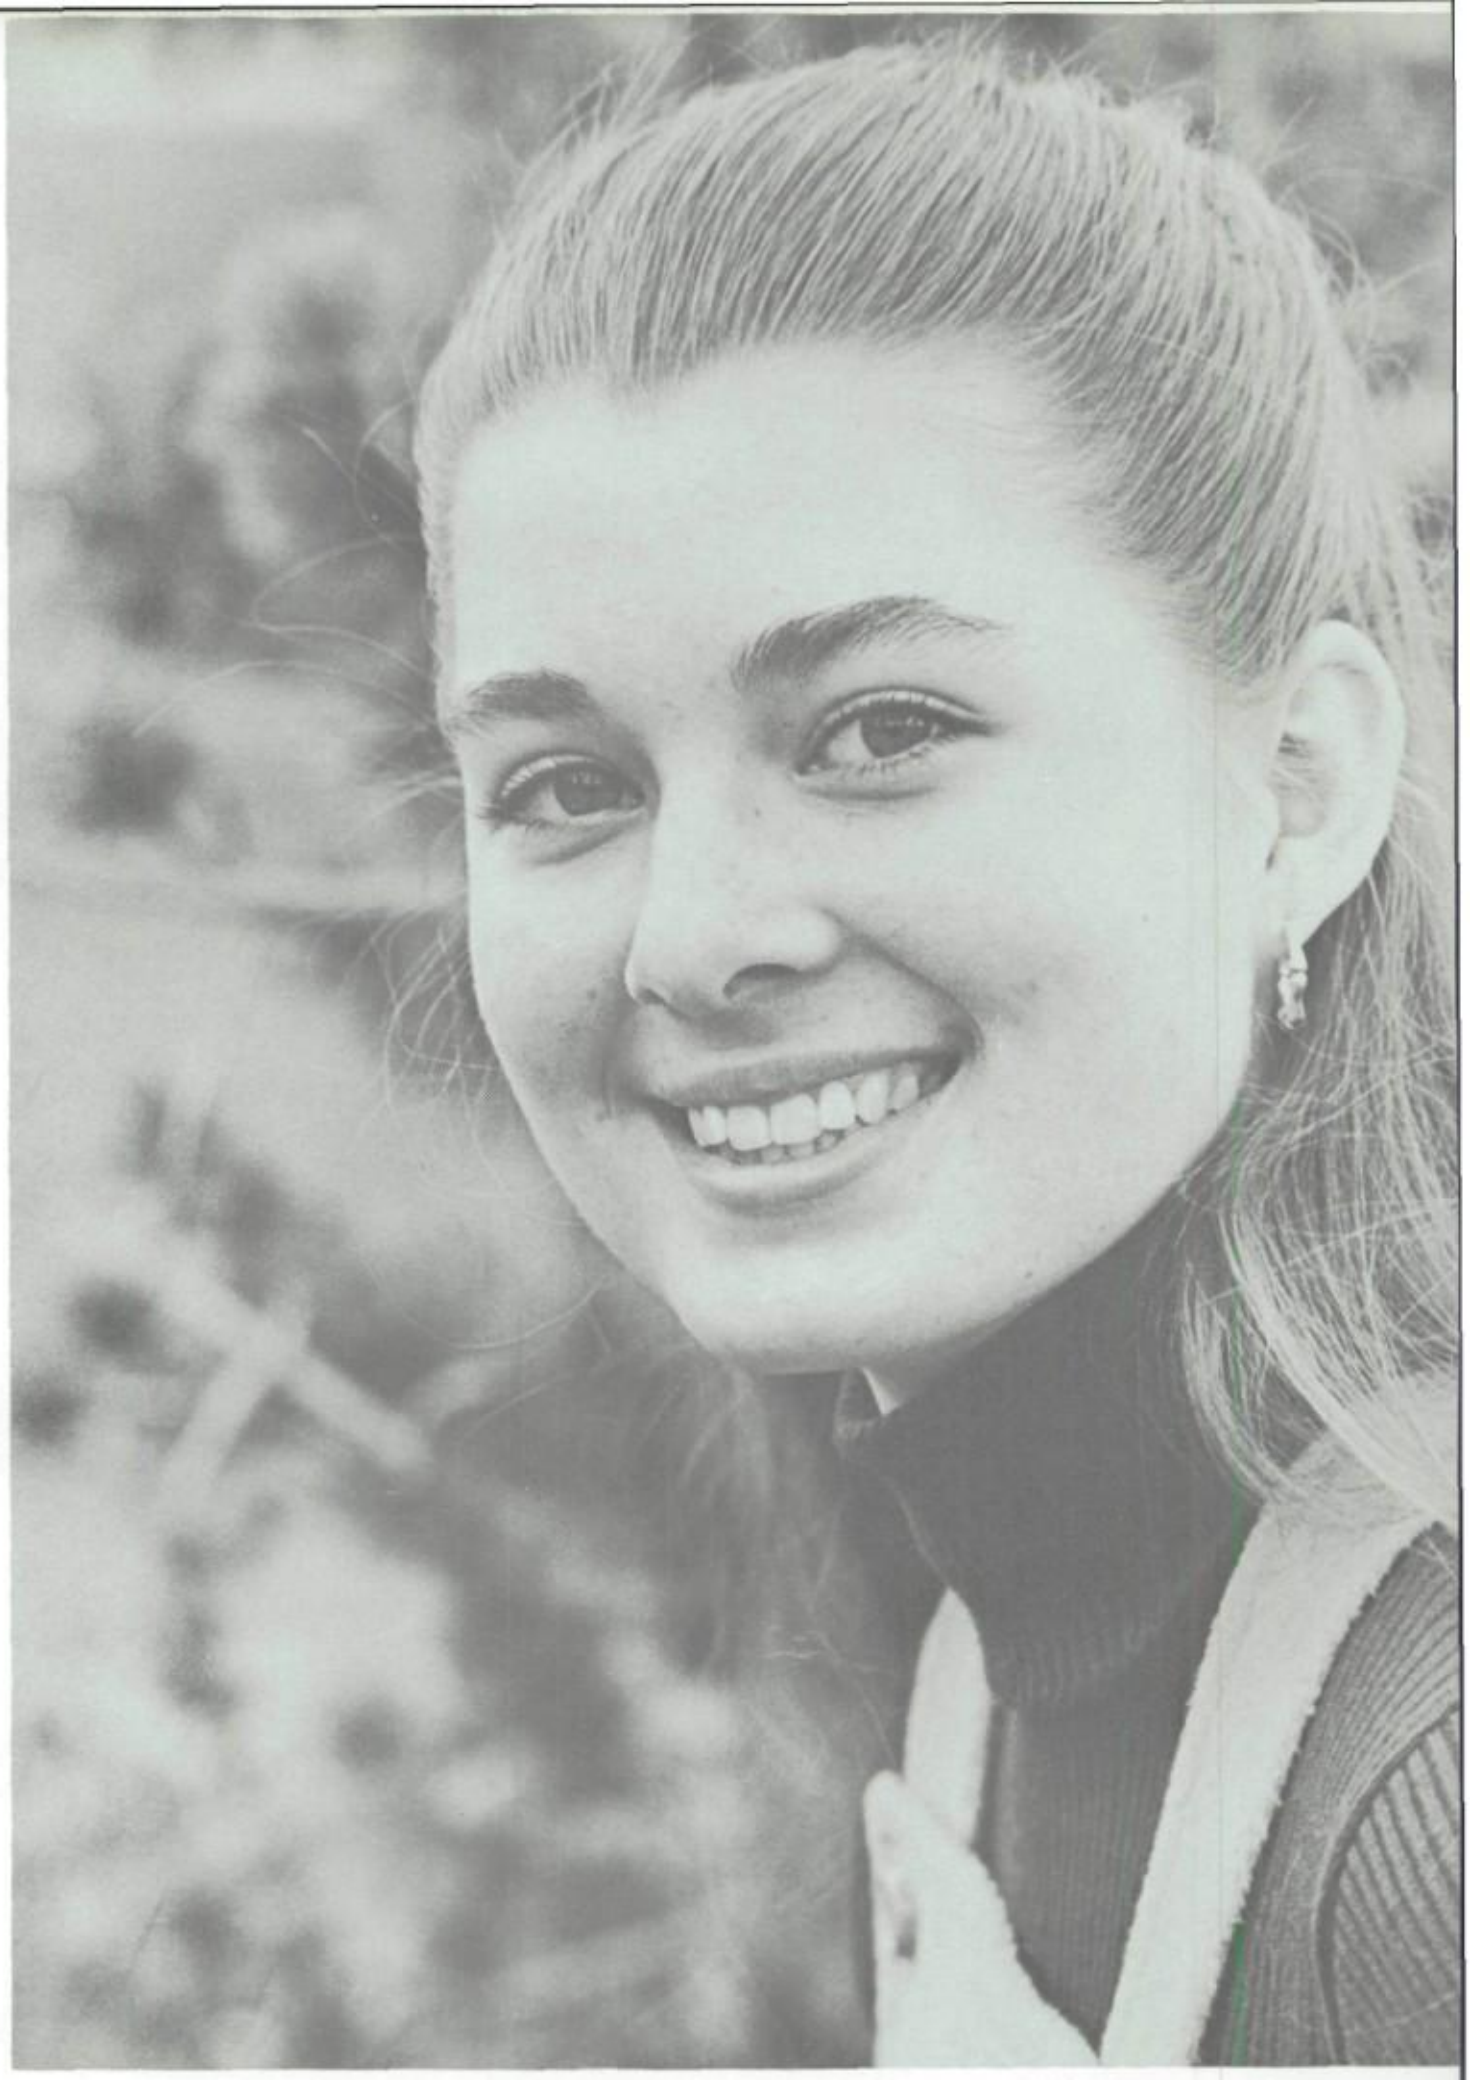
~ a lavish dessert similar to plum pudding.
~ nothing like it to polish off a meal and cheer up the guests.



Jo Ann Burtard



Hot Tamale Pie
~ a dish for jolly occasions.
~ although corn is main ingredient,
it makes a saucy good meal.

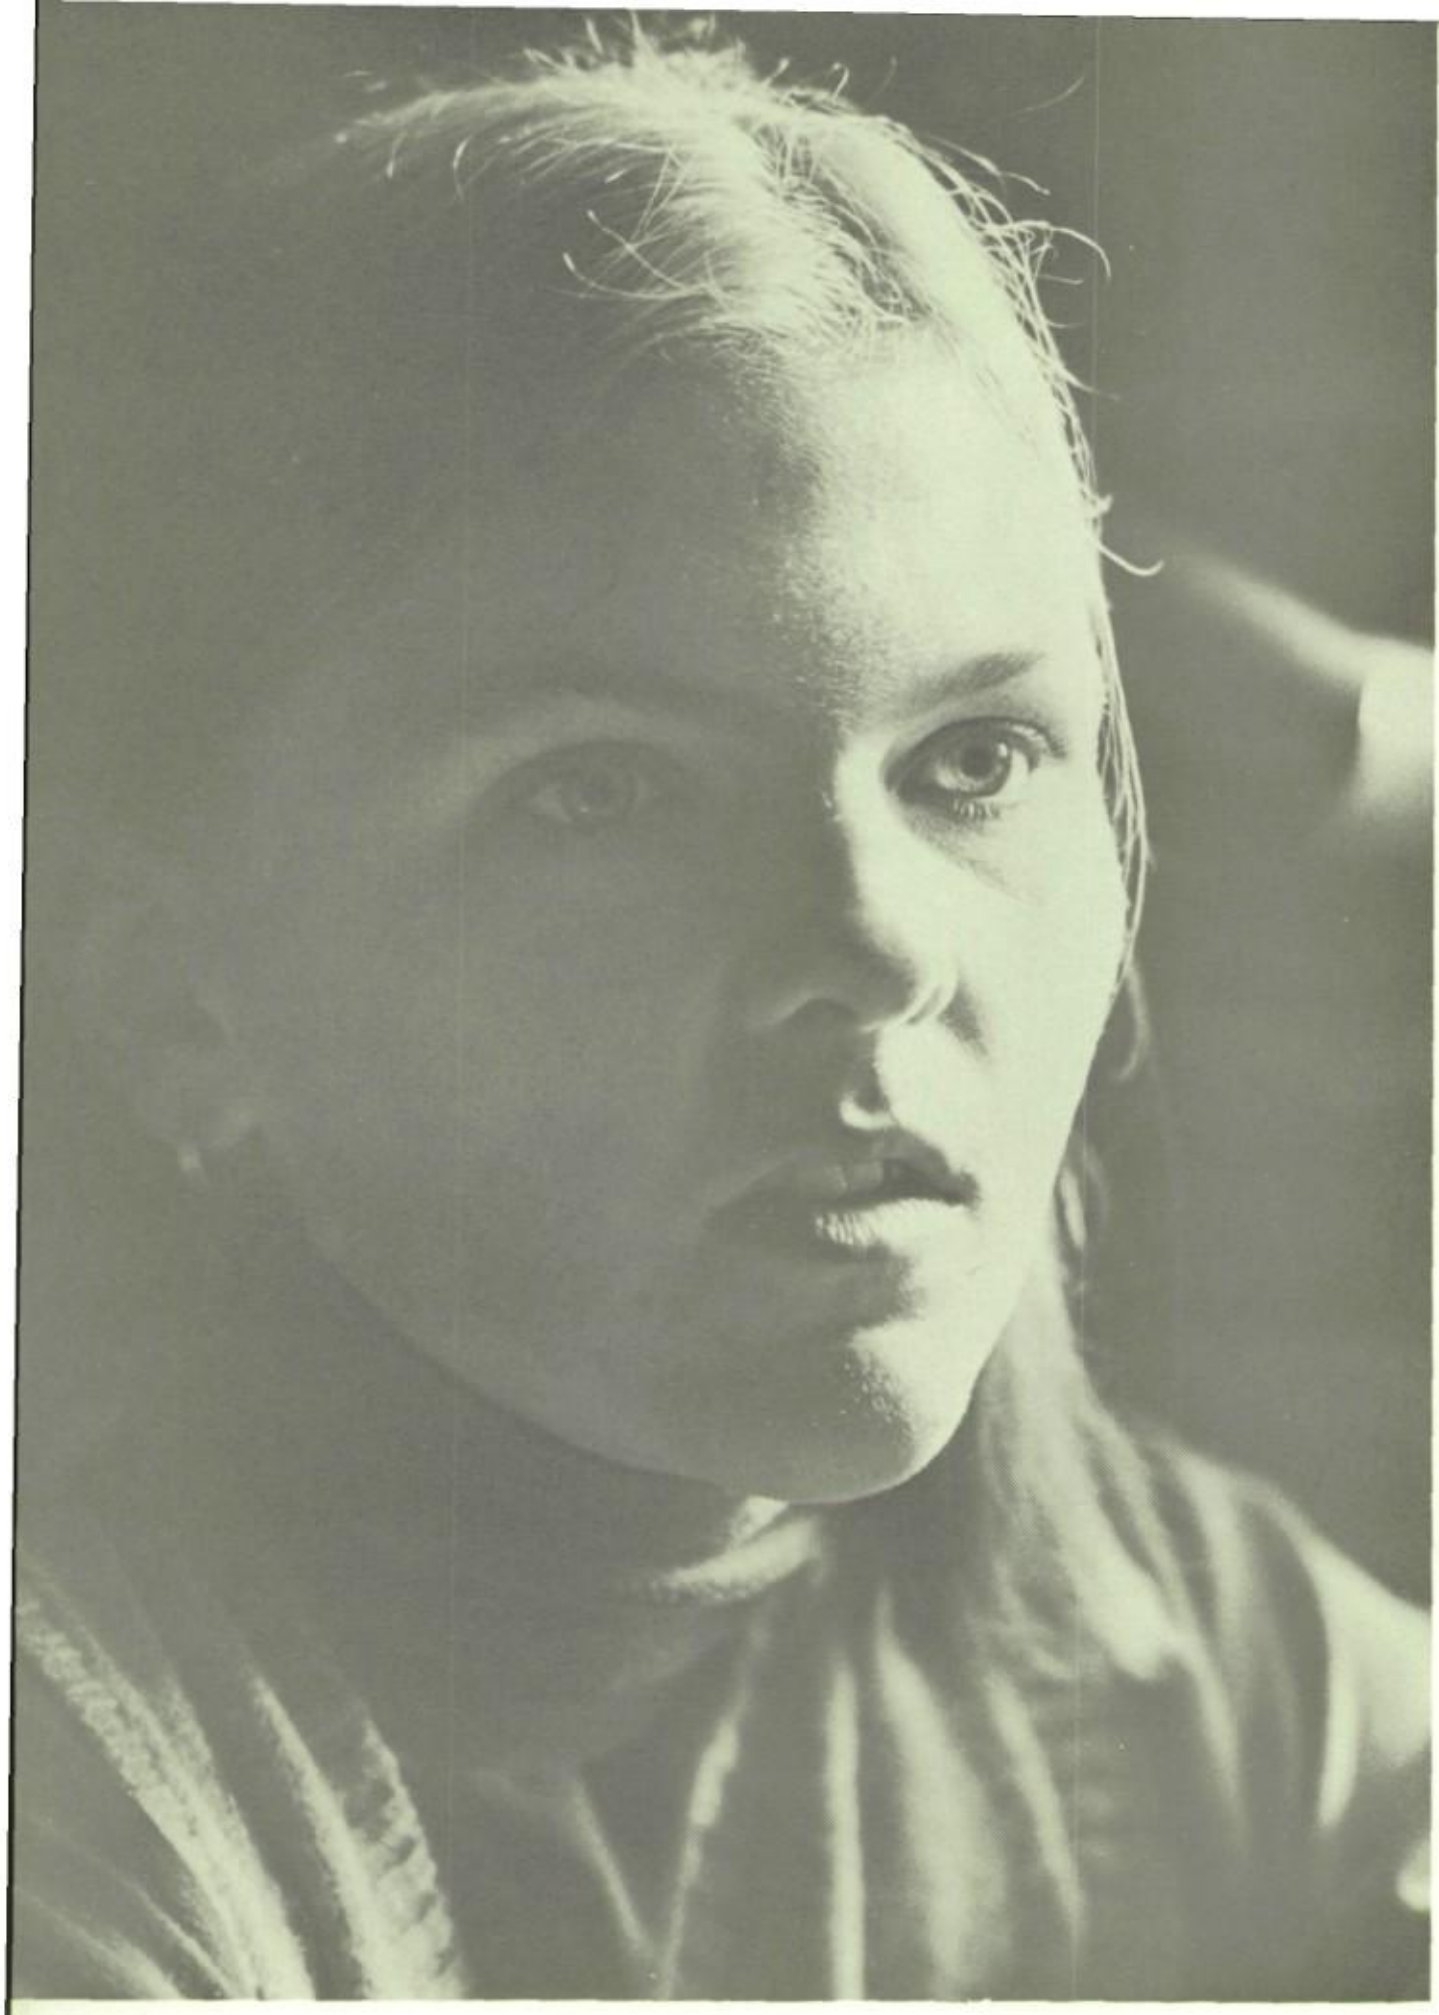


Melinda Tarbox

Petits Fours Glacés

— sponge cake and jam with pink icing and topped with a candied violet.

— perfect for tea.



Cini Carson

Vol au Vent

~ a creative concoction, with a hint of french seasoning.
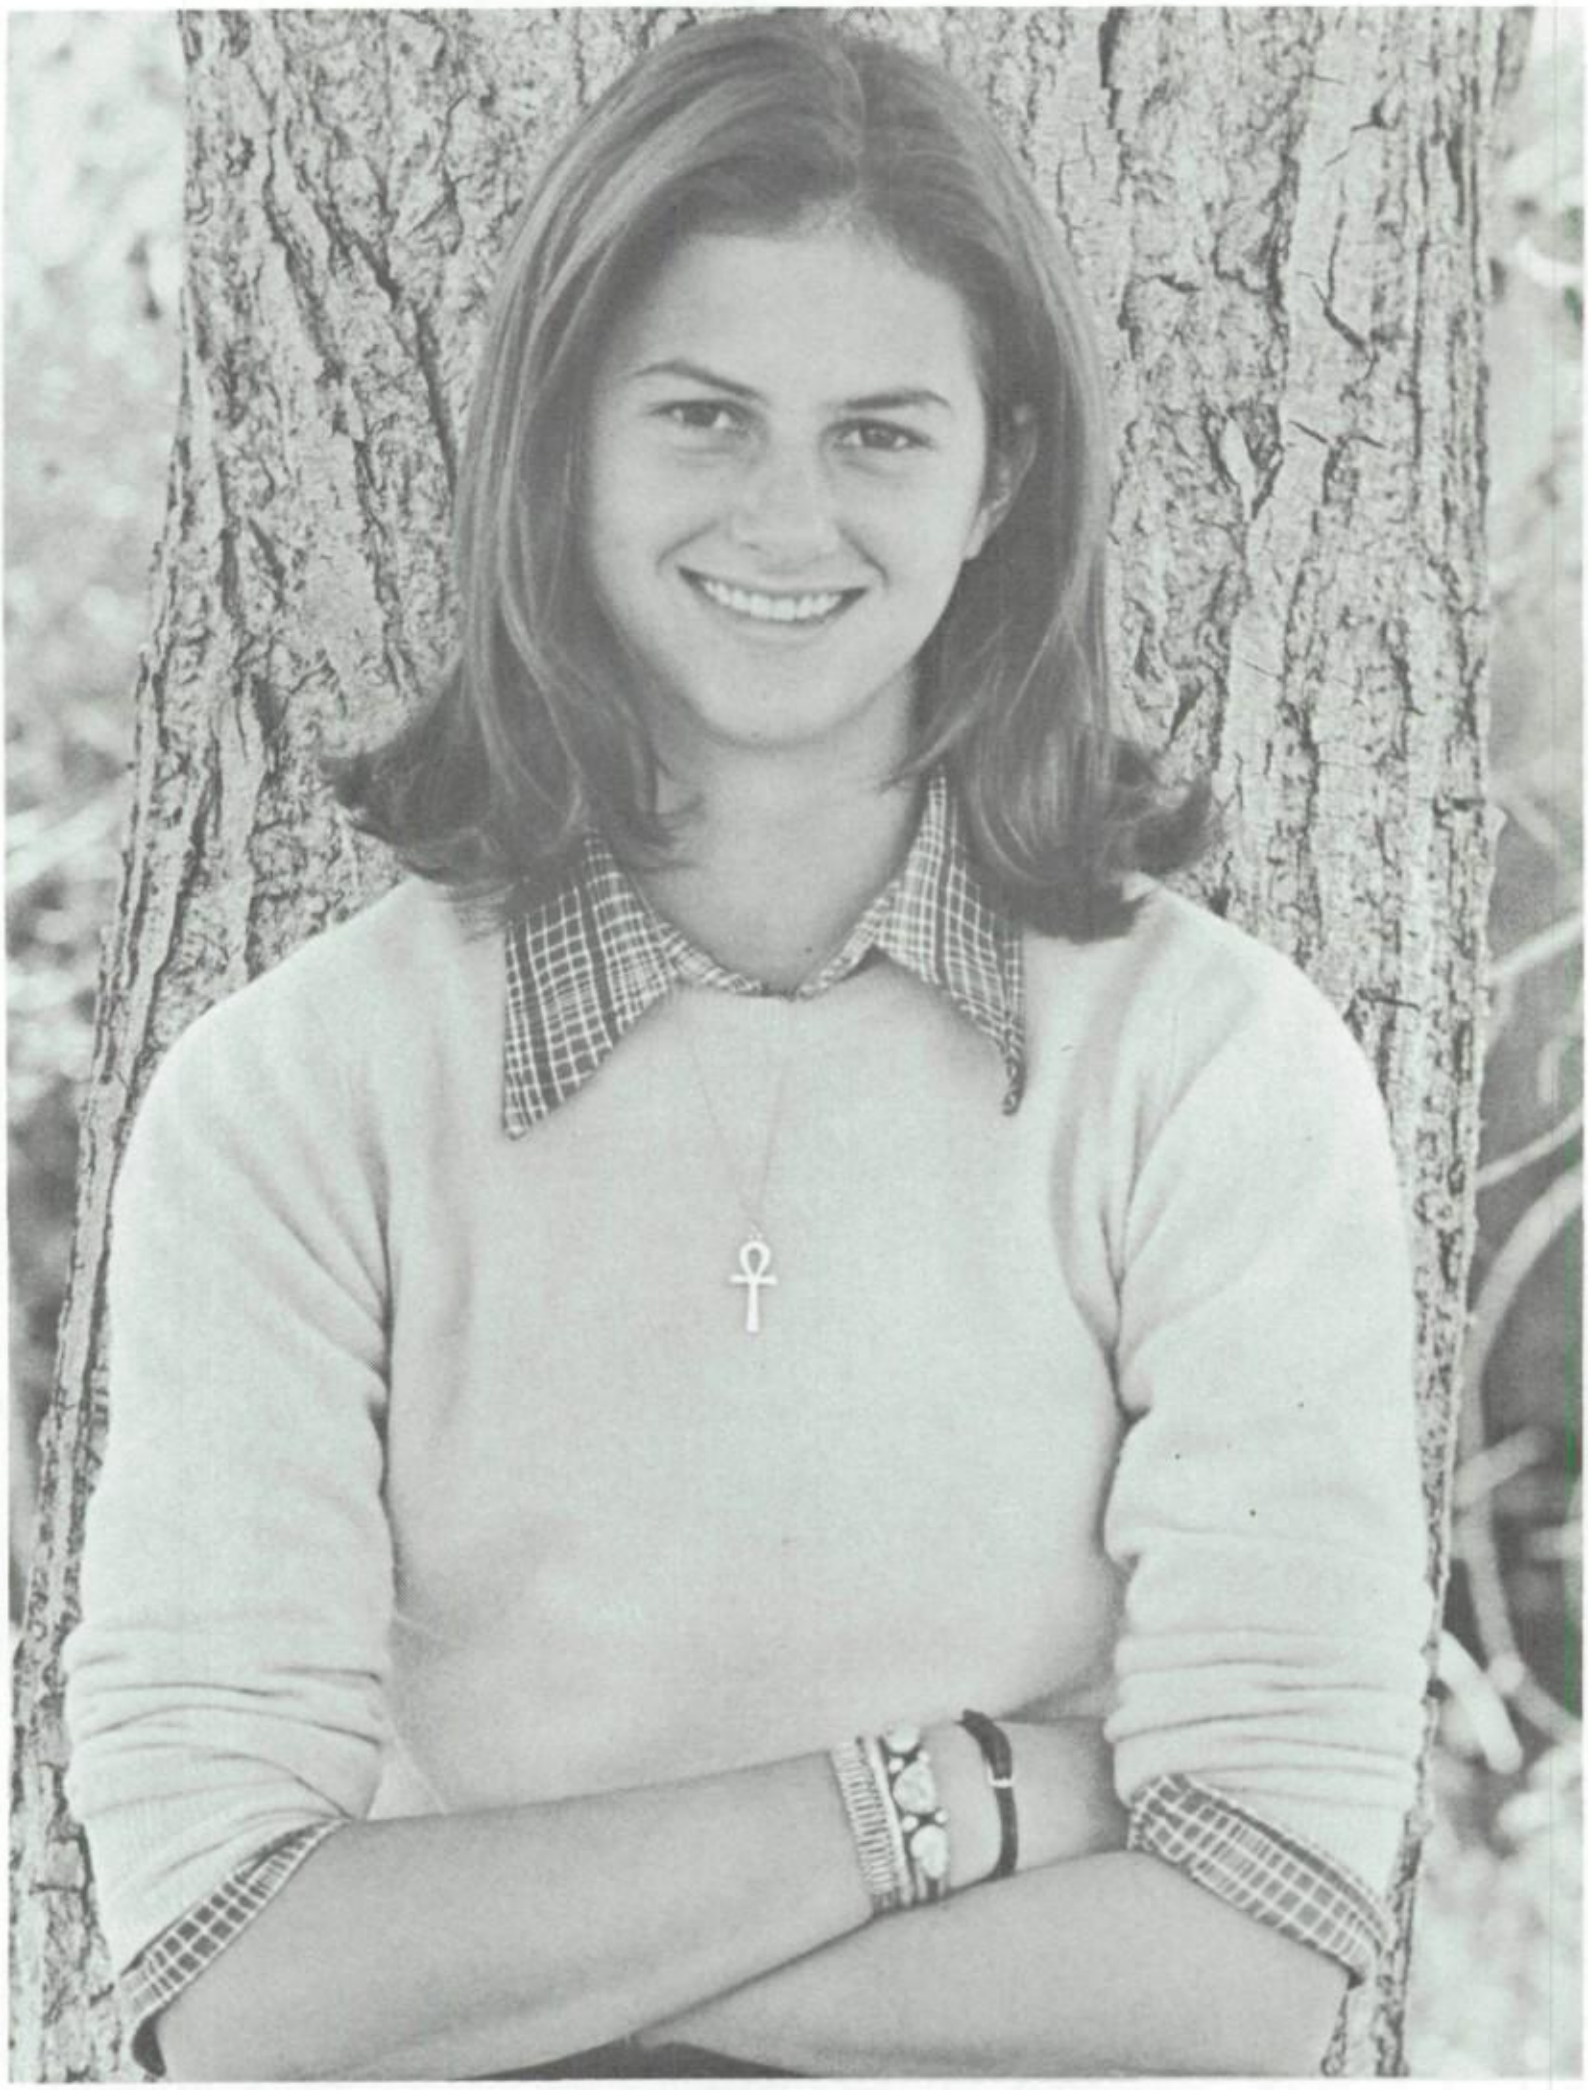
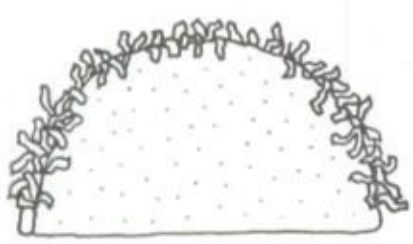
~ has original flavor.
~ musical atmosphere enhances taste.



Missy Tillett



Texas Taco

~a favorite at big rambunctious picnics~over-flowing with juicy tomatoes, spicy meat and fresh lettuce. It is best prepared by a few hardworking, helpful friends beforehand.

Leslie Lee

Home Roasted Beer Nuts

— great hors d'oeuvres for large parties. They have an especially nutty flavor, slightly salty, highly addictive. They go over well at casual friendly gatherings.

Susannah Williams-Ellis

Mulligan Stew
~ an adaptable and basic dish, sustaining and appealing to every palate.
~ enjoy with Irish coffee.

Jane Livingston

Lamb Ingénue

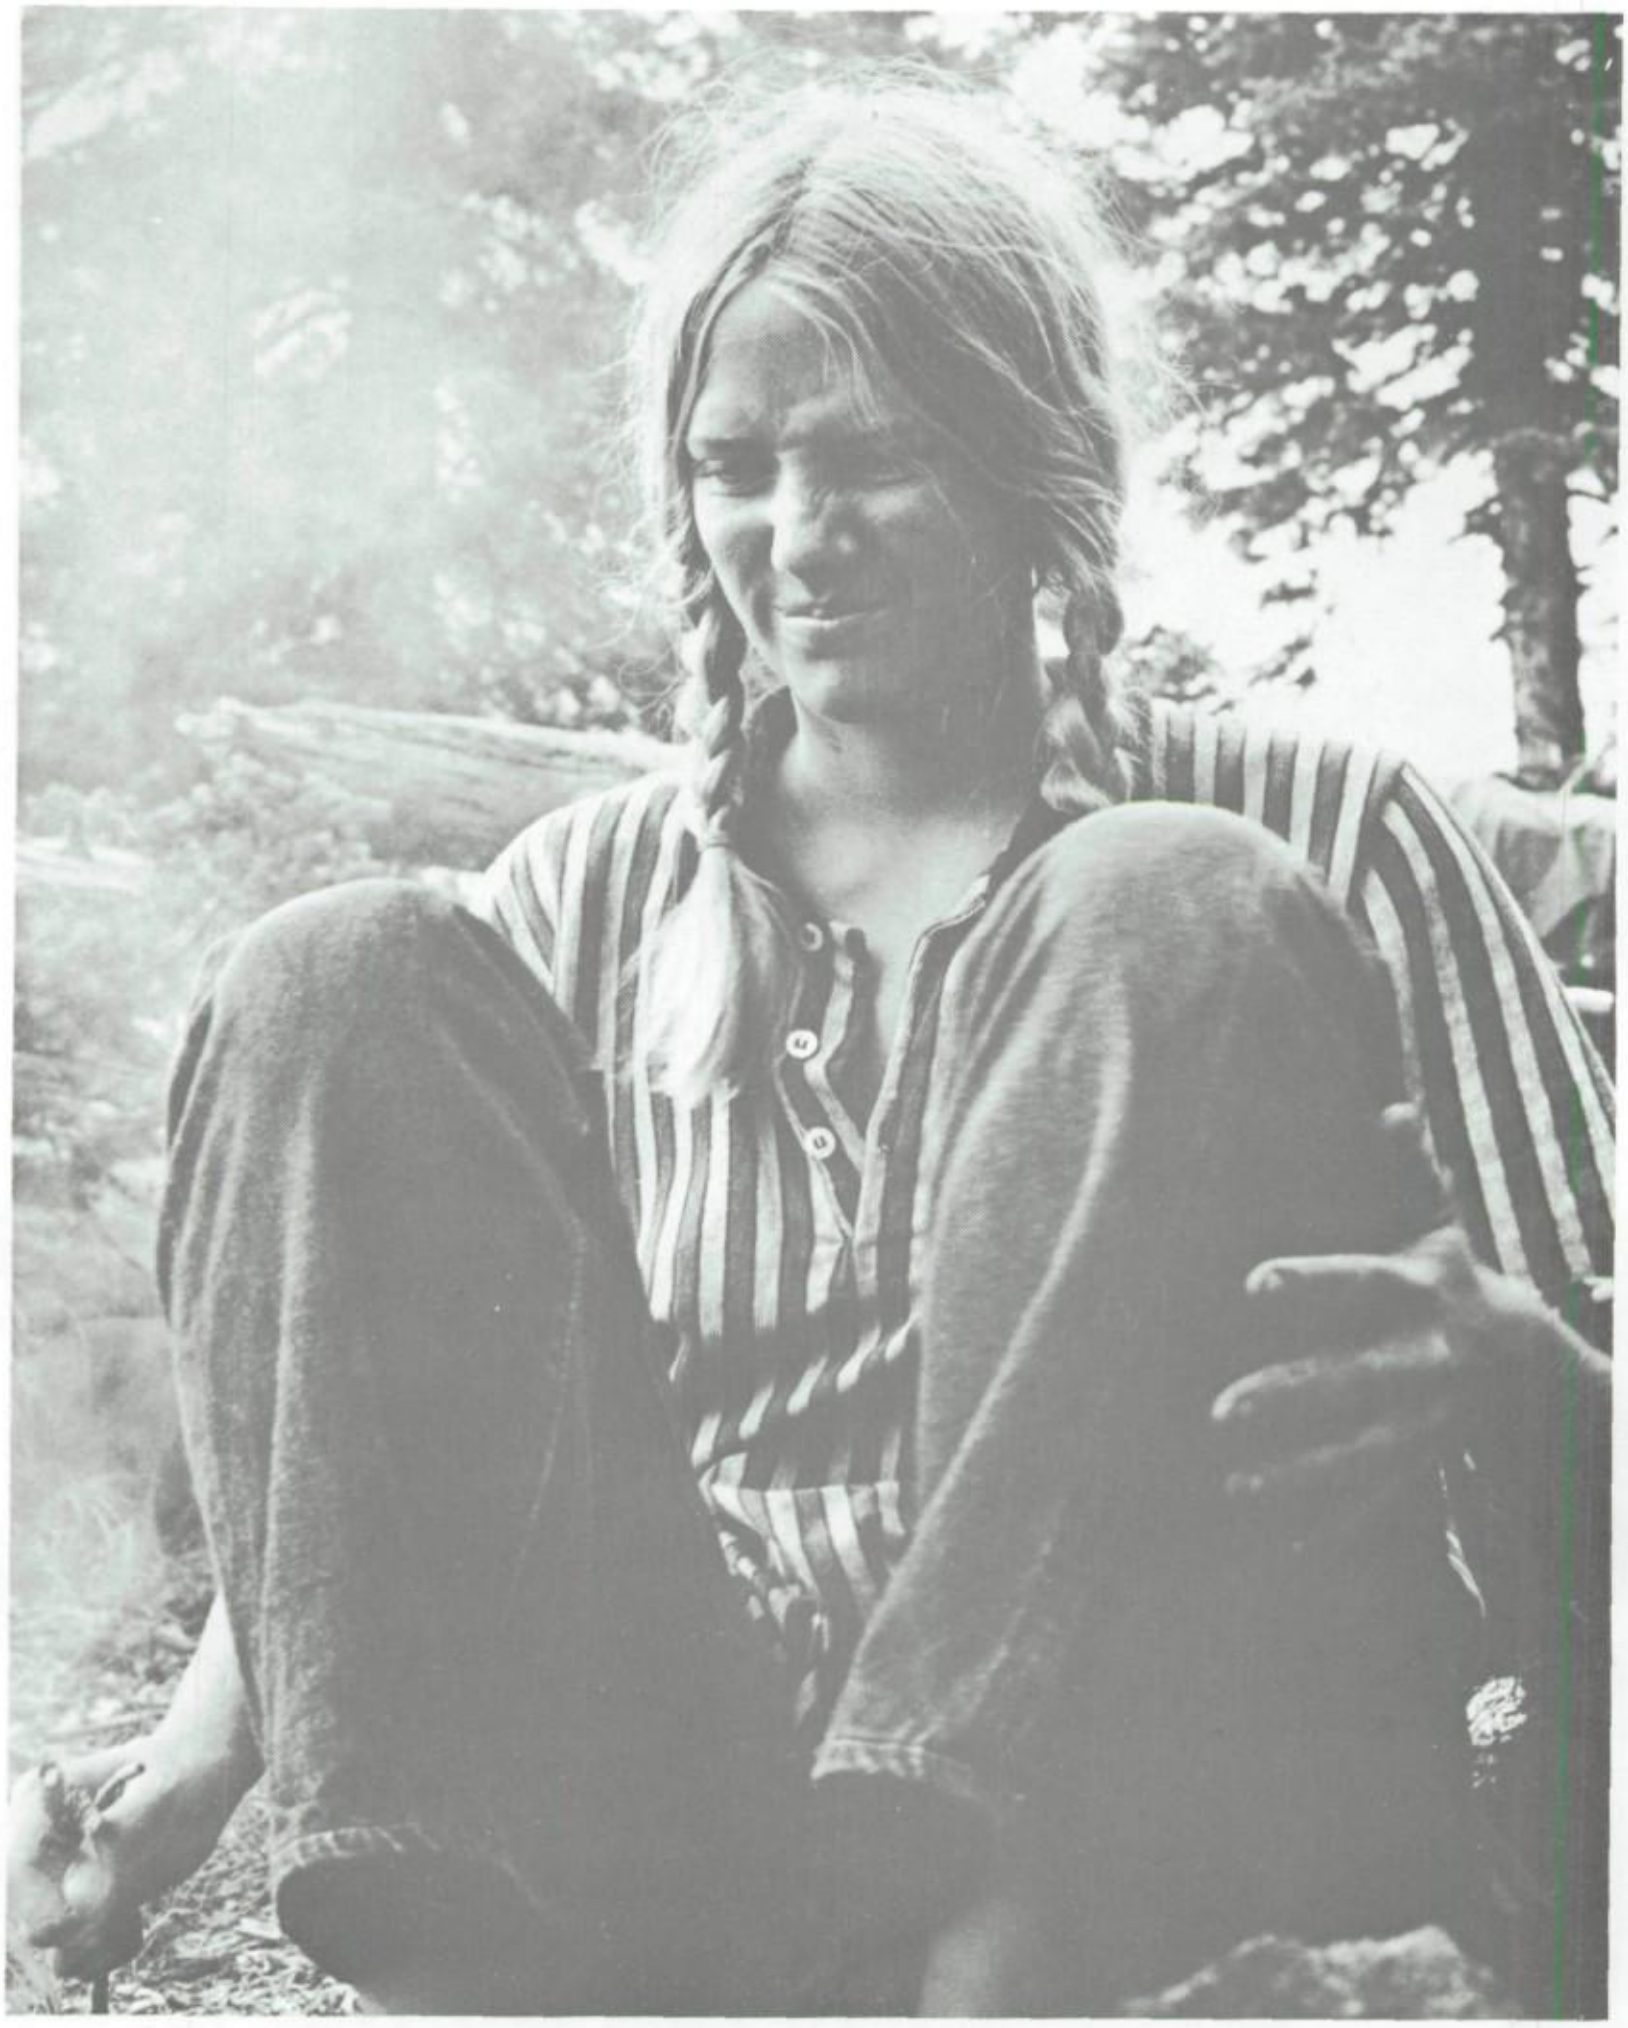
~ a sophisticated entrée accomodating but flavorful.
~ full of sustenance and always appreciated by the gourmet.



Karen Murphy

Barbequed Banquet

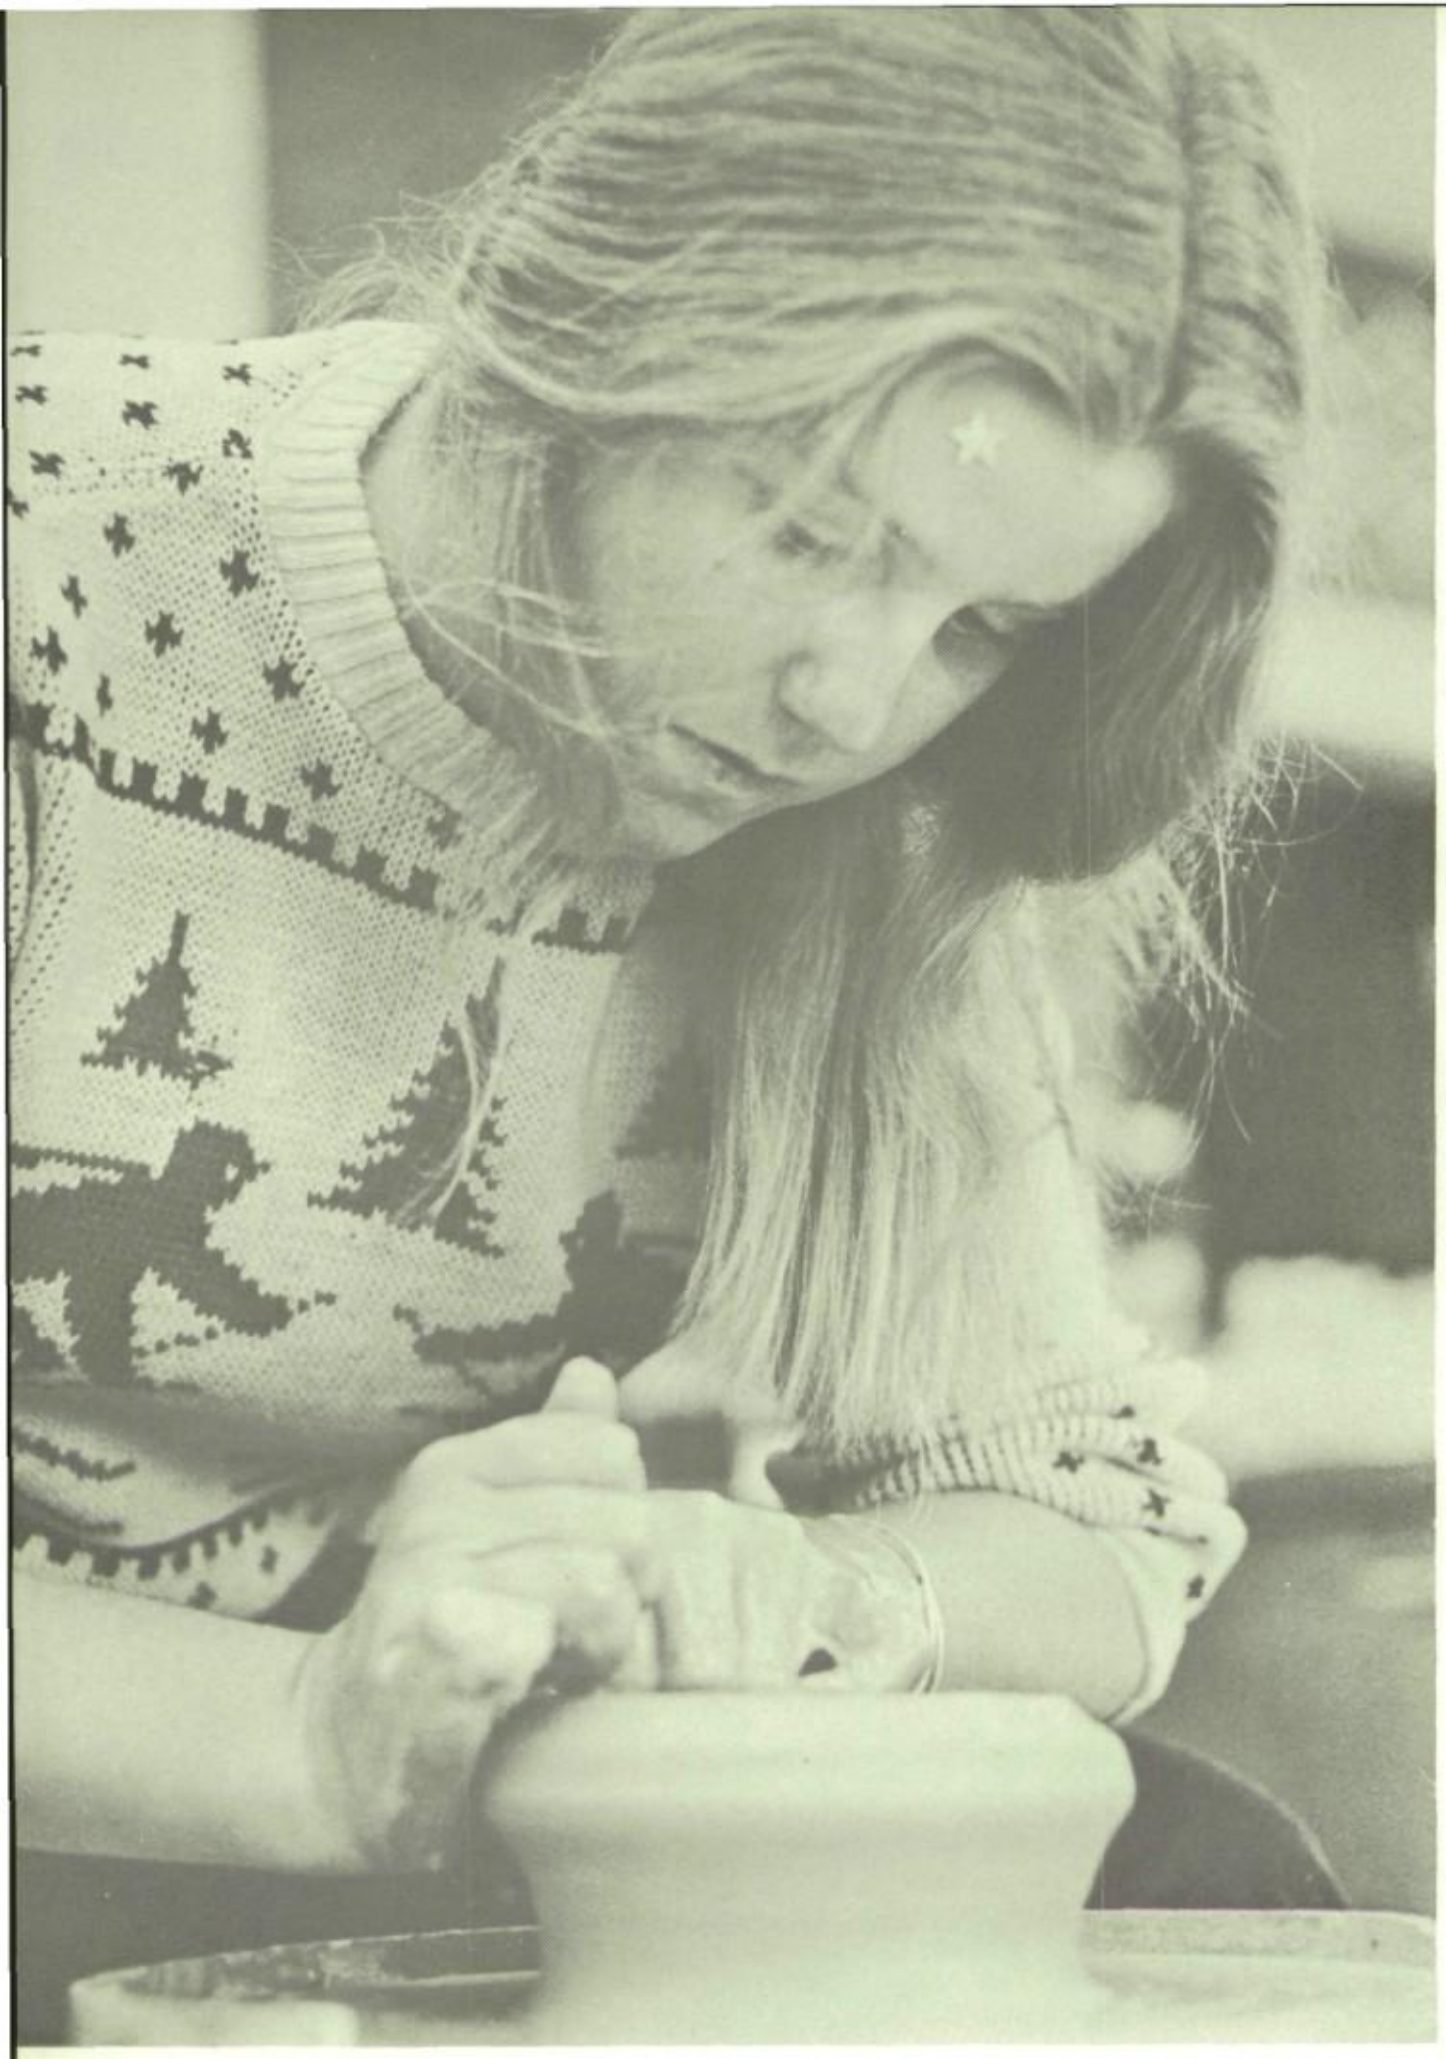
When meals get mundane, there is nothing like an outdoor barbeque. This dish has that smoky charcoal flavor, distinguishing it from the stove-cooked meal.



Patty Martori

Tossed Salad

A creative and artistic touch must go into the preparation of this salad. It may be difficult to assemble all of the ingredients. Some are hard to find. —especially intriguing and exotic if served with male company.

Chery Lavers

Chery's Jubilee

~use only fresh spring cherries from Washington's own cherry trees. Sprinkle generously with sugar.
~a dessert easily stretched with fluffy whipped cream.

Ann Nicholson

Strawberry Supreme

~ Requires rosy strawberries in season and good cooking skills. It makes a stylish dessert, especially garnished with a cream chantilly.

Elsa Rosenkrantz

A.B.T. Brownies

These brownies contain very special ingredients, with more than meets the eye.

Although especially popular in California, they are also a dorm favorite.

Lynn Paxson

Casserole Español

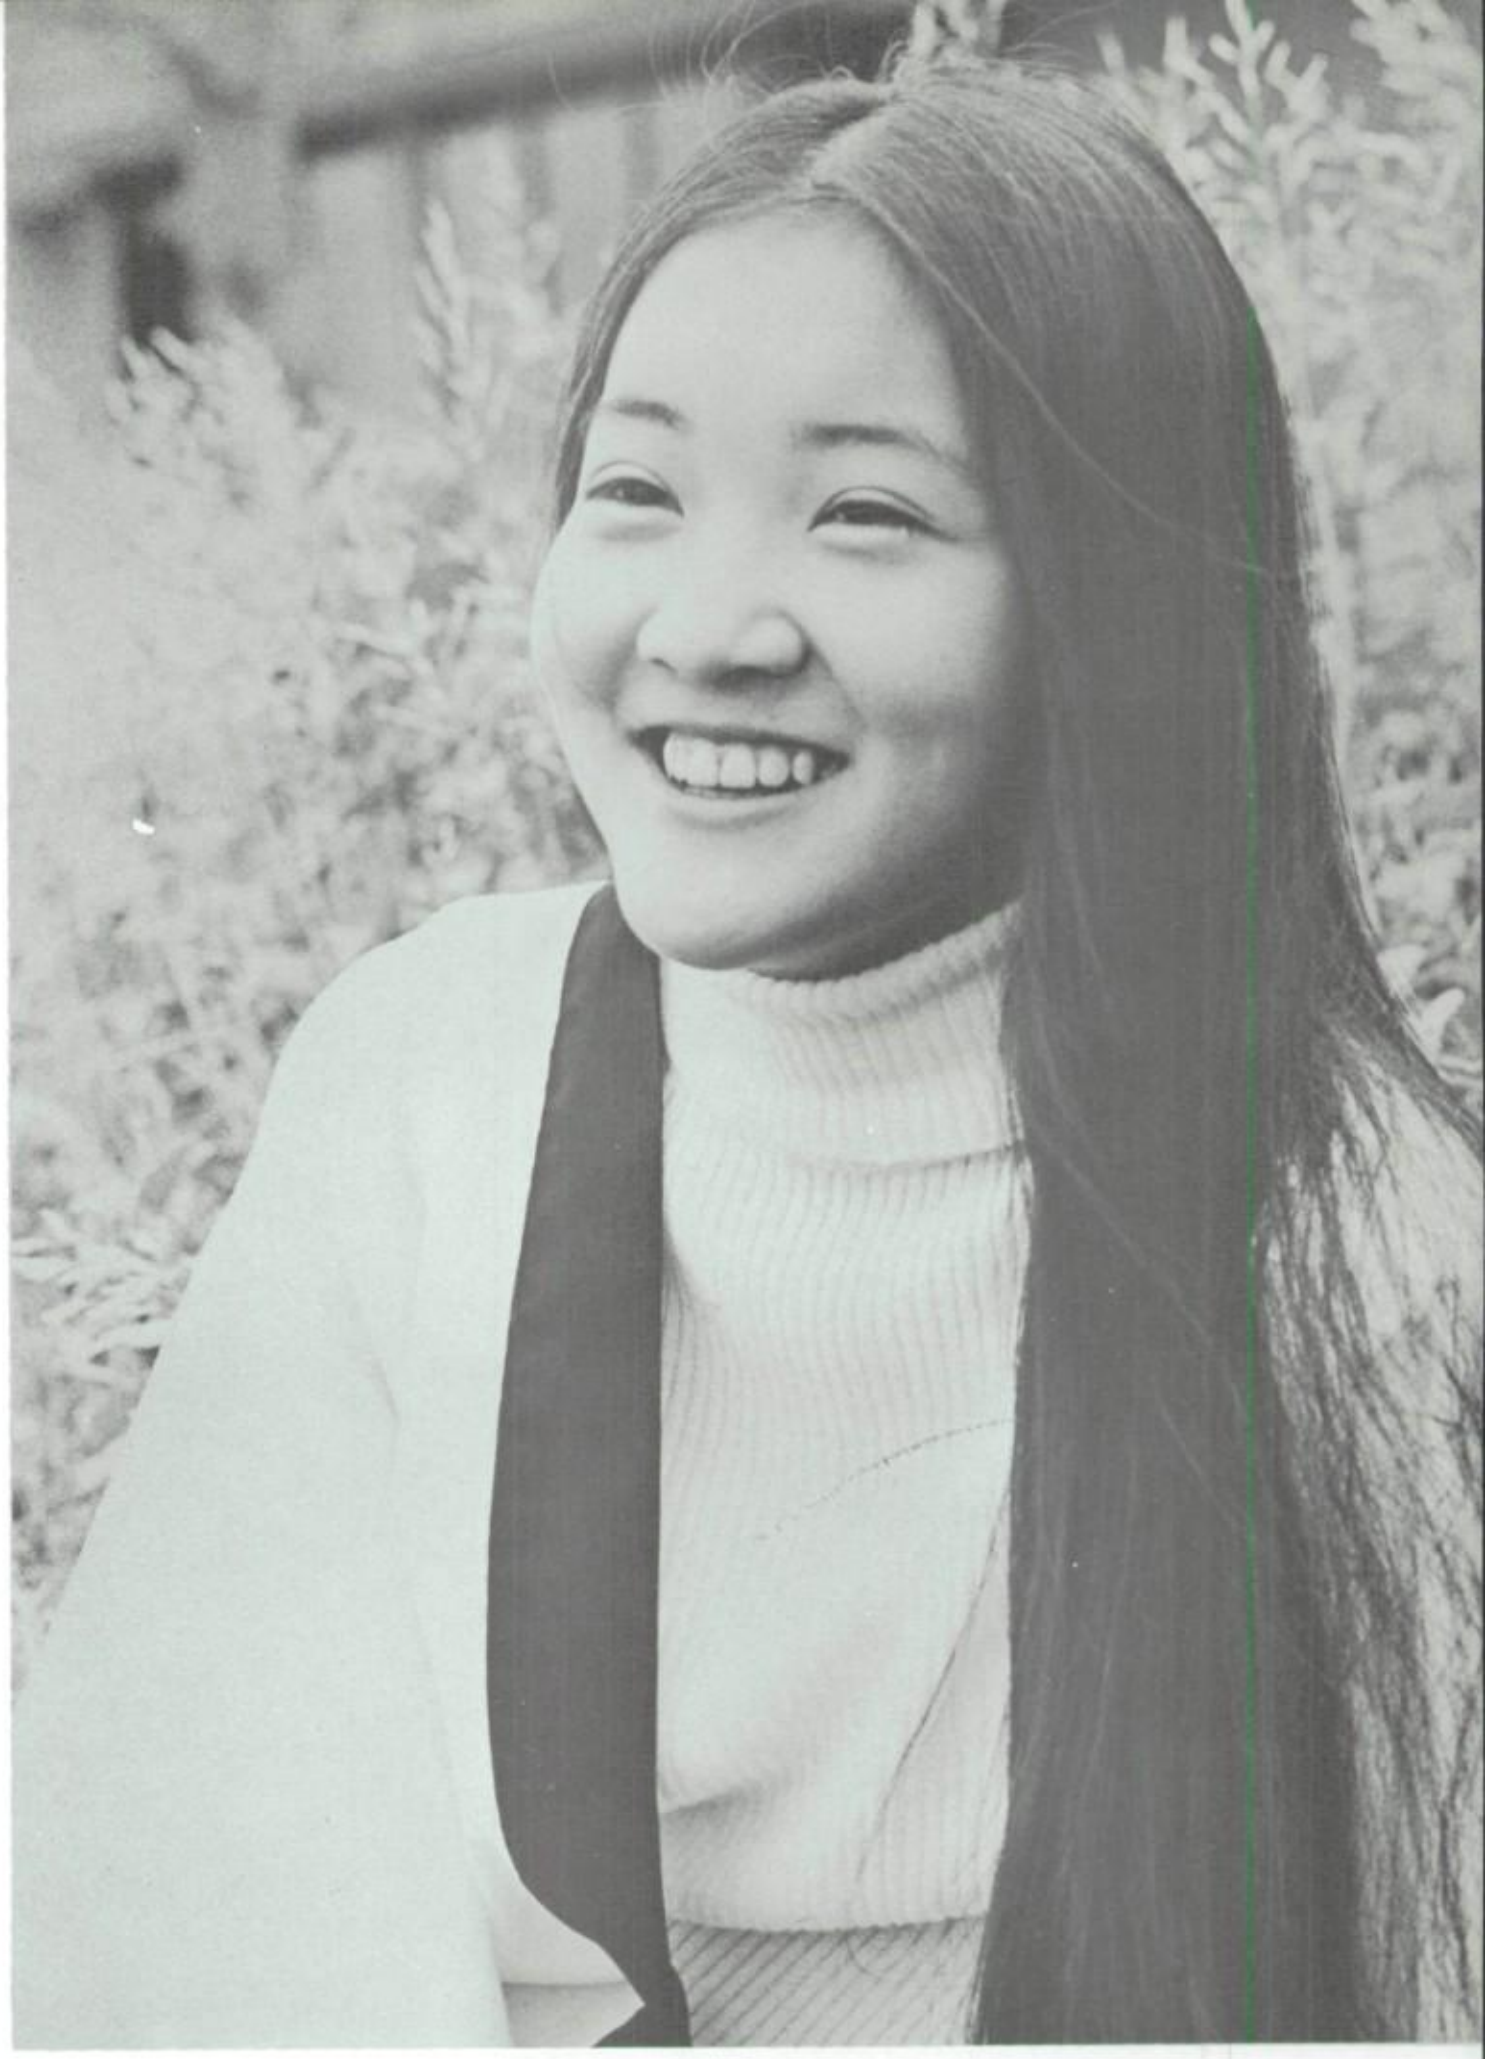
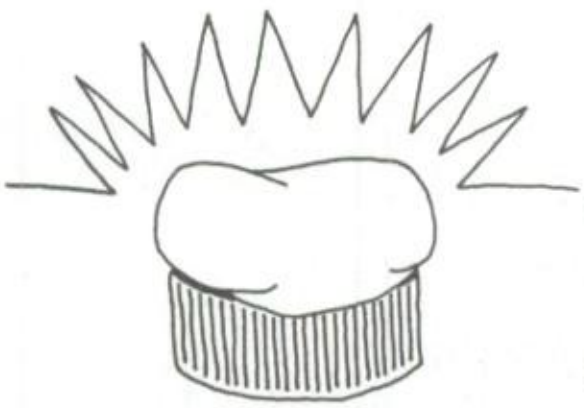
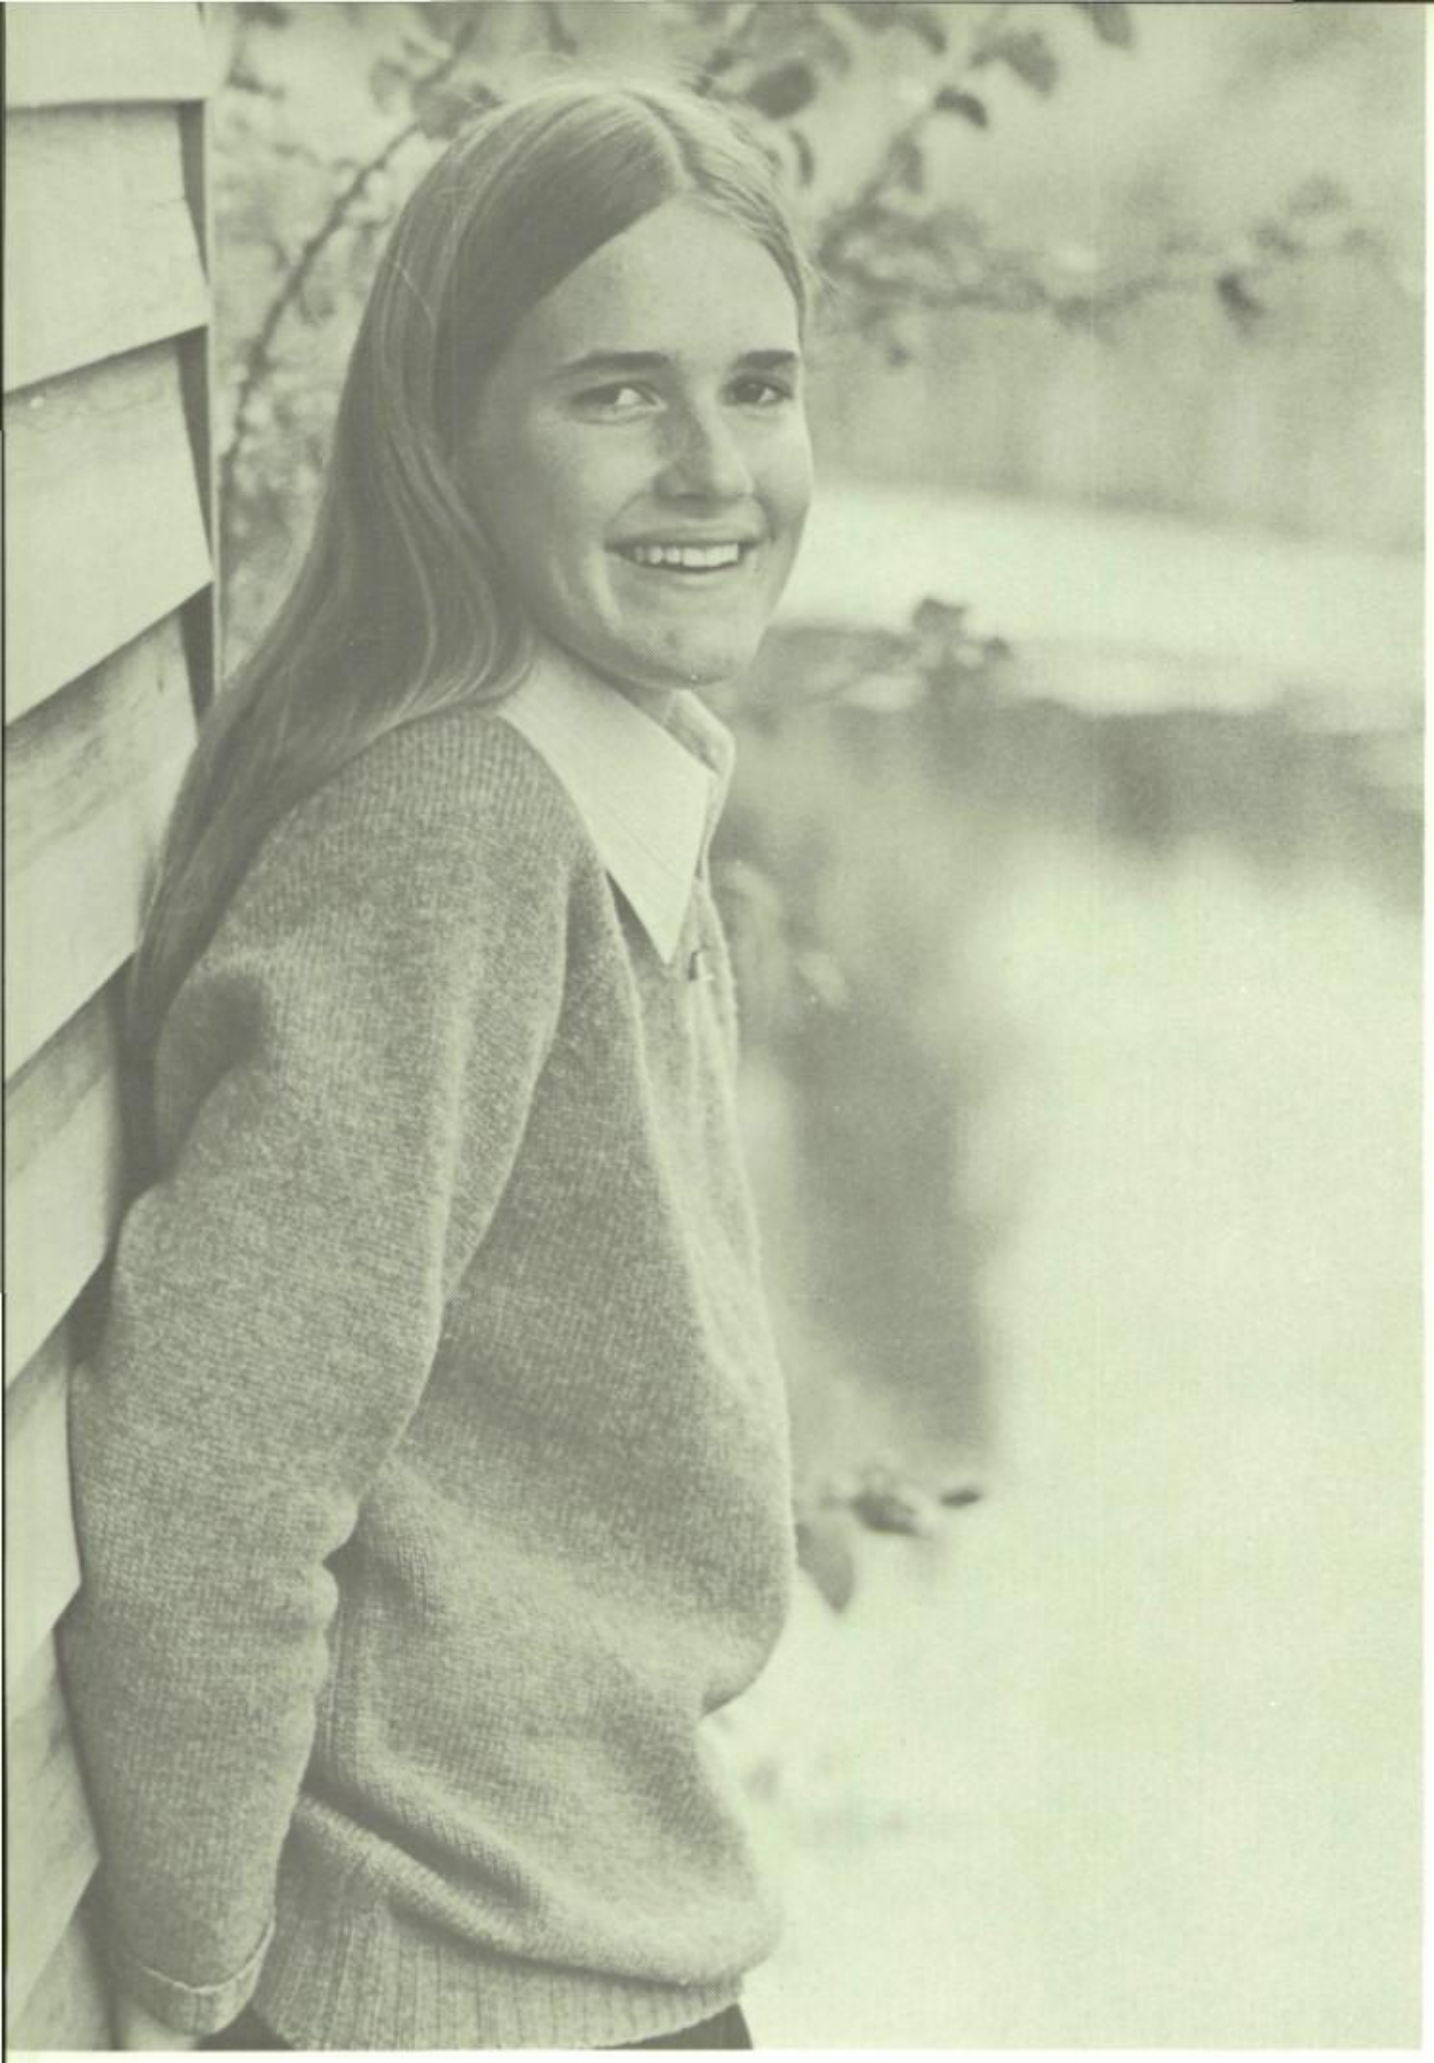
Always a staple, this tasty entrée combines Spanish rice, red ripe tomatoes, and seasoned meat. ~ an enjoyable meal for a small group.



Jane Suekama



Sparkling Soufflé
~ demands precise cooking skills.
Complicated measurements must be figured exactly, but the result is delectable.



Vivi Dunklee

Goulash à la King

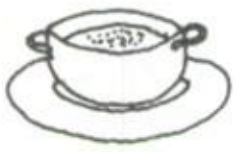
This versatile casserole goes well with all types of food.

~ is easily prepared.

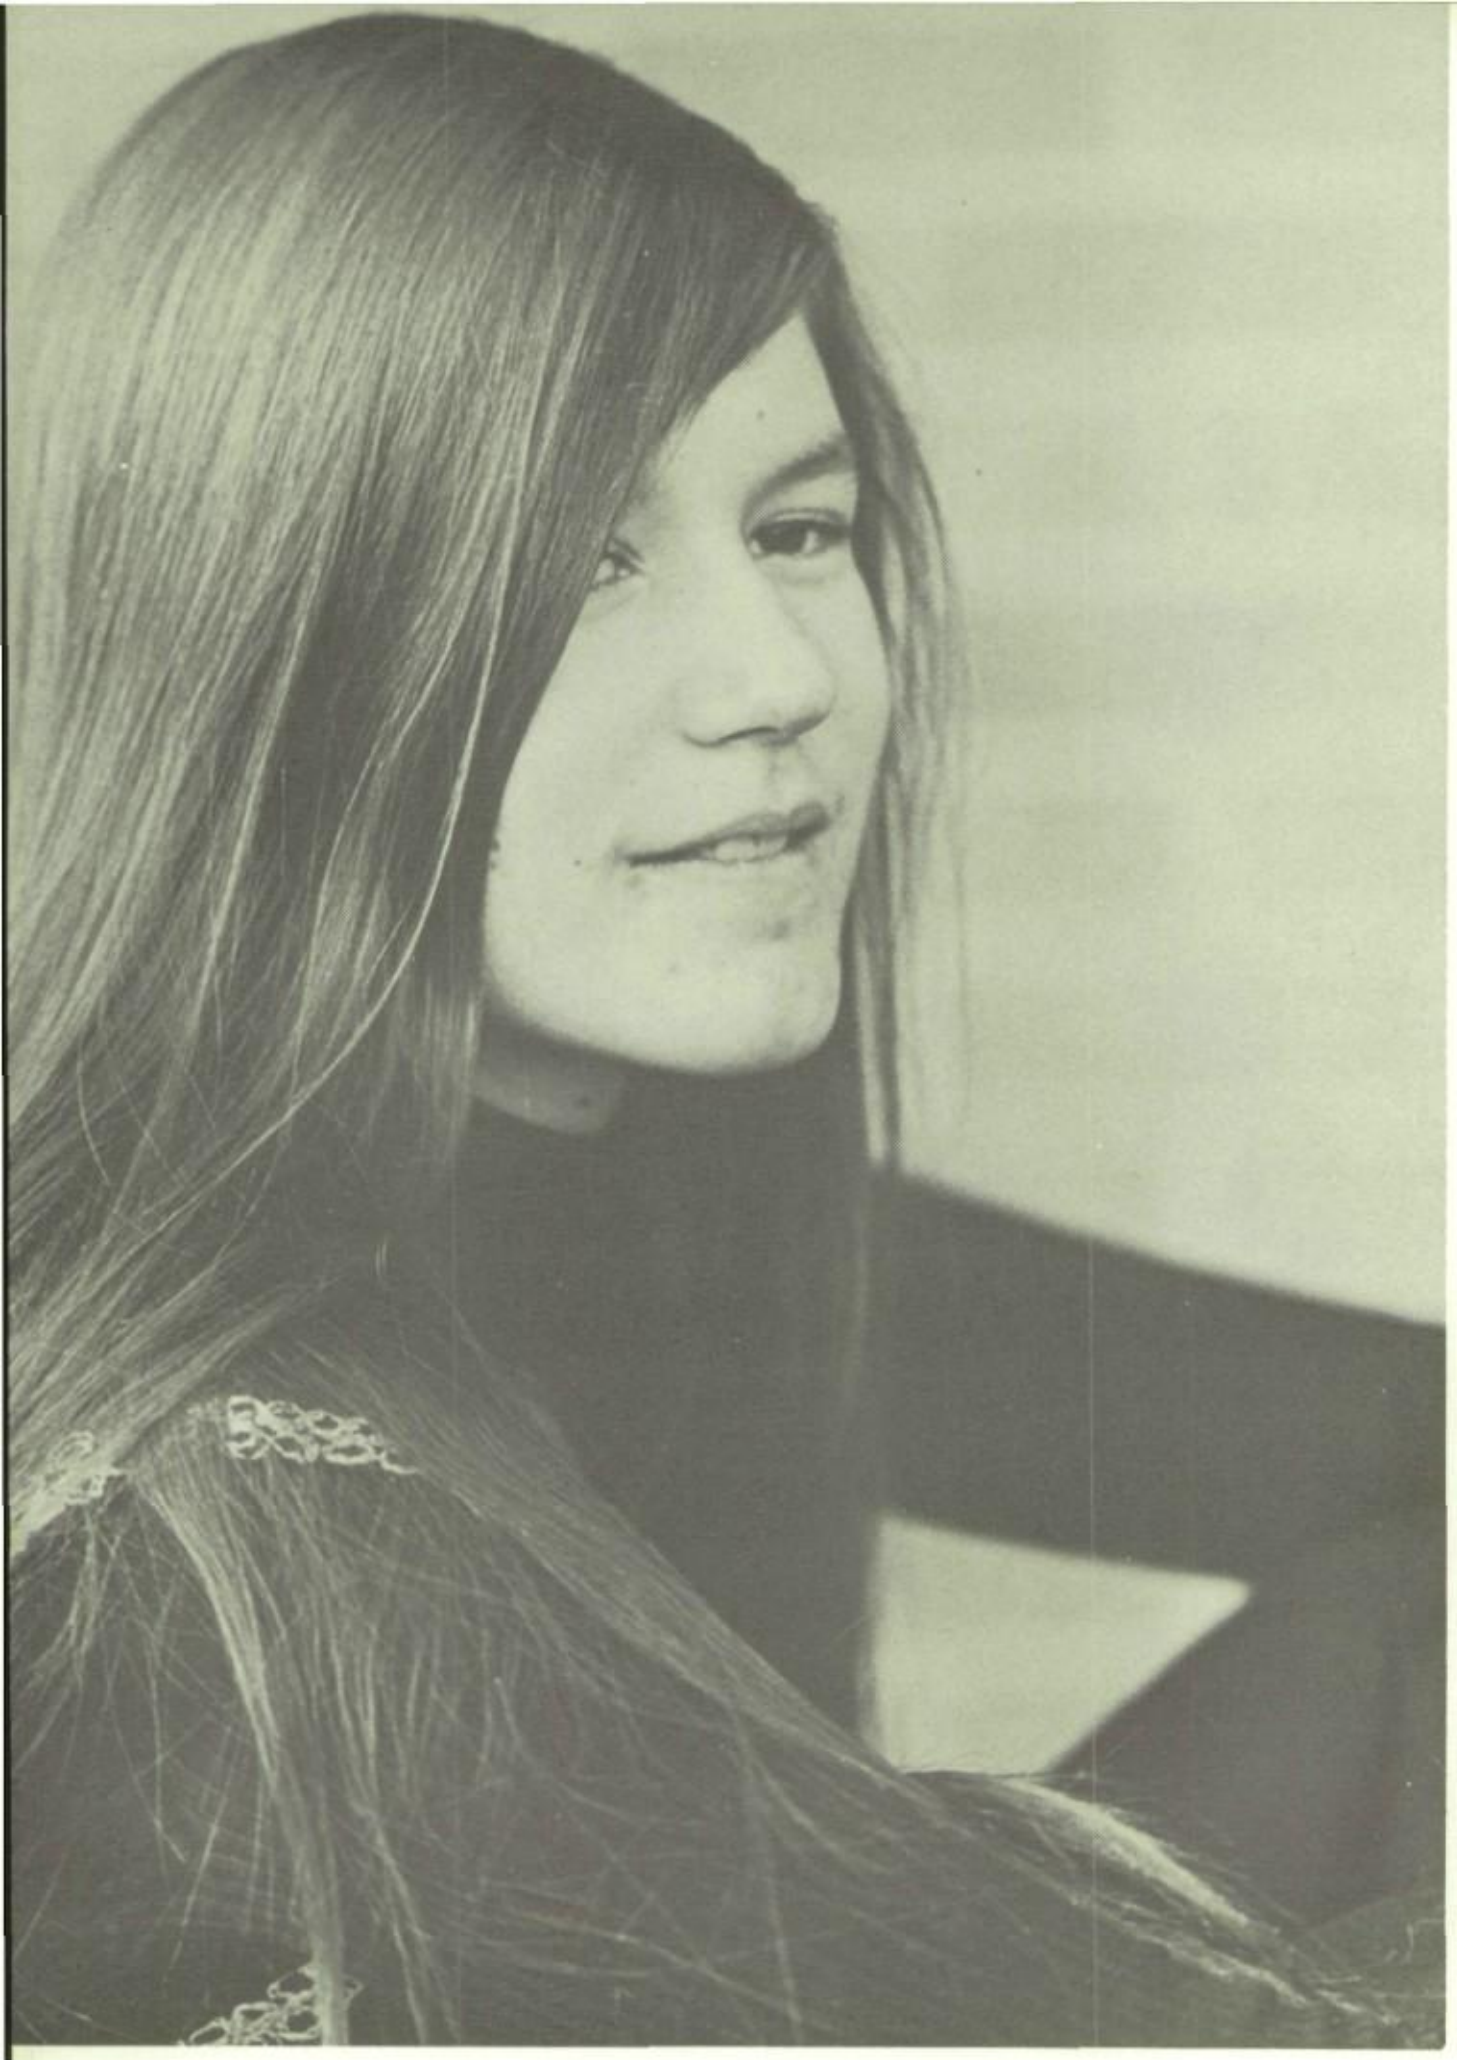
~ makes a hearty meal for the hungry athlete.

Debbie Donoghue



Consommé Garni

~ a clear soup topped with chef's garnish.
~ an elegant appetizer before a top notch meal and the symphony.



Didi Goodman

Harmonious Hominy

For the light eater, this down-home Tennessee treat is superb with brains.
~ an unpretentious meal.

Gayla Coleman

Salade Piquante

~This is an exotic salad with an assortment of unusual greens and vegetables. Best served with a touch of tangy lime.

Denica Schoonmaker

Plum Pirouette

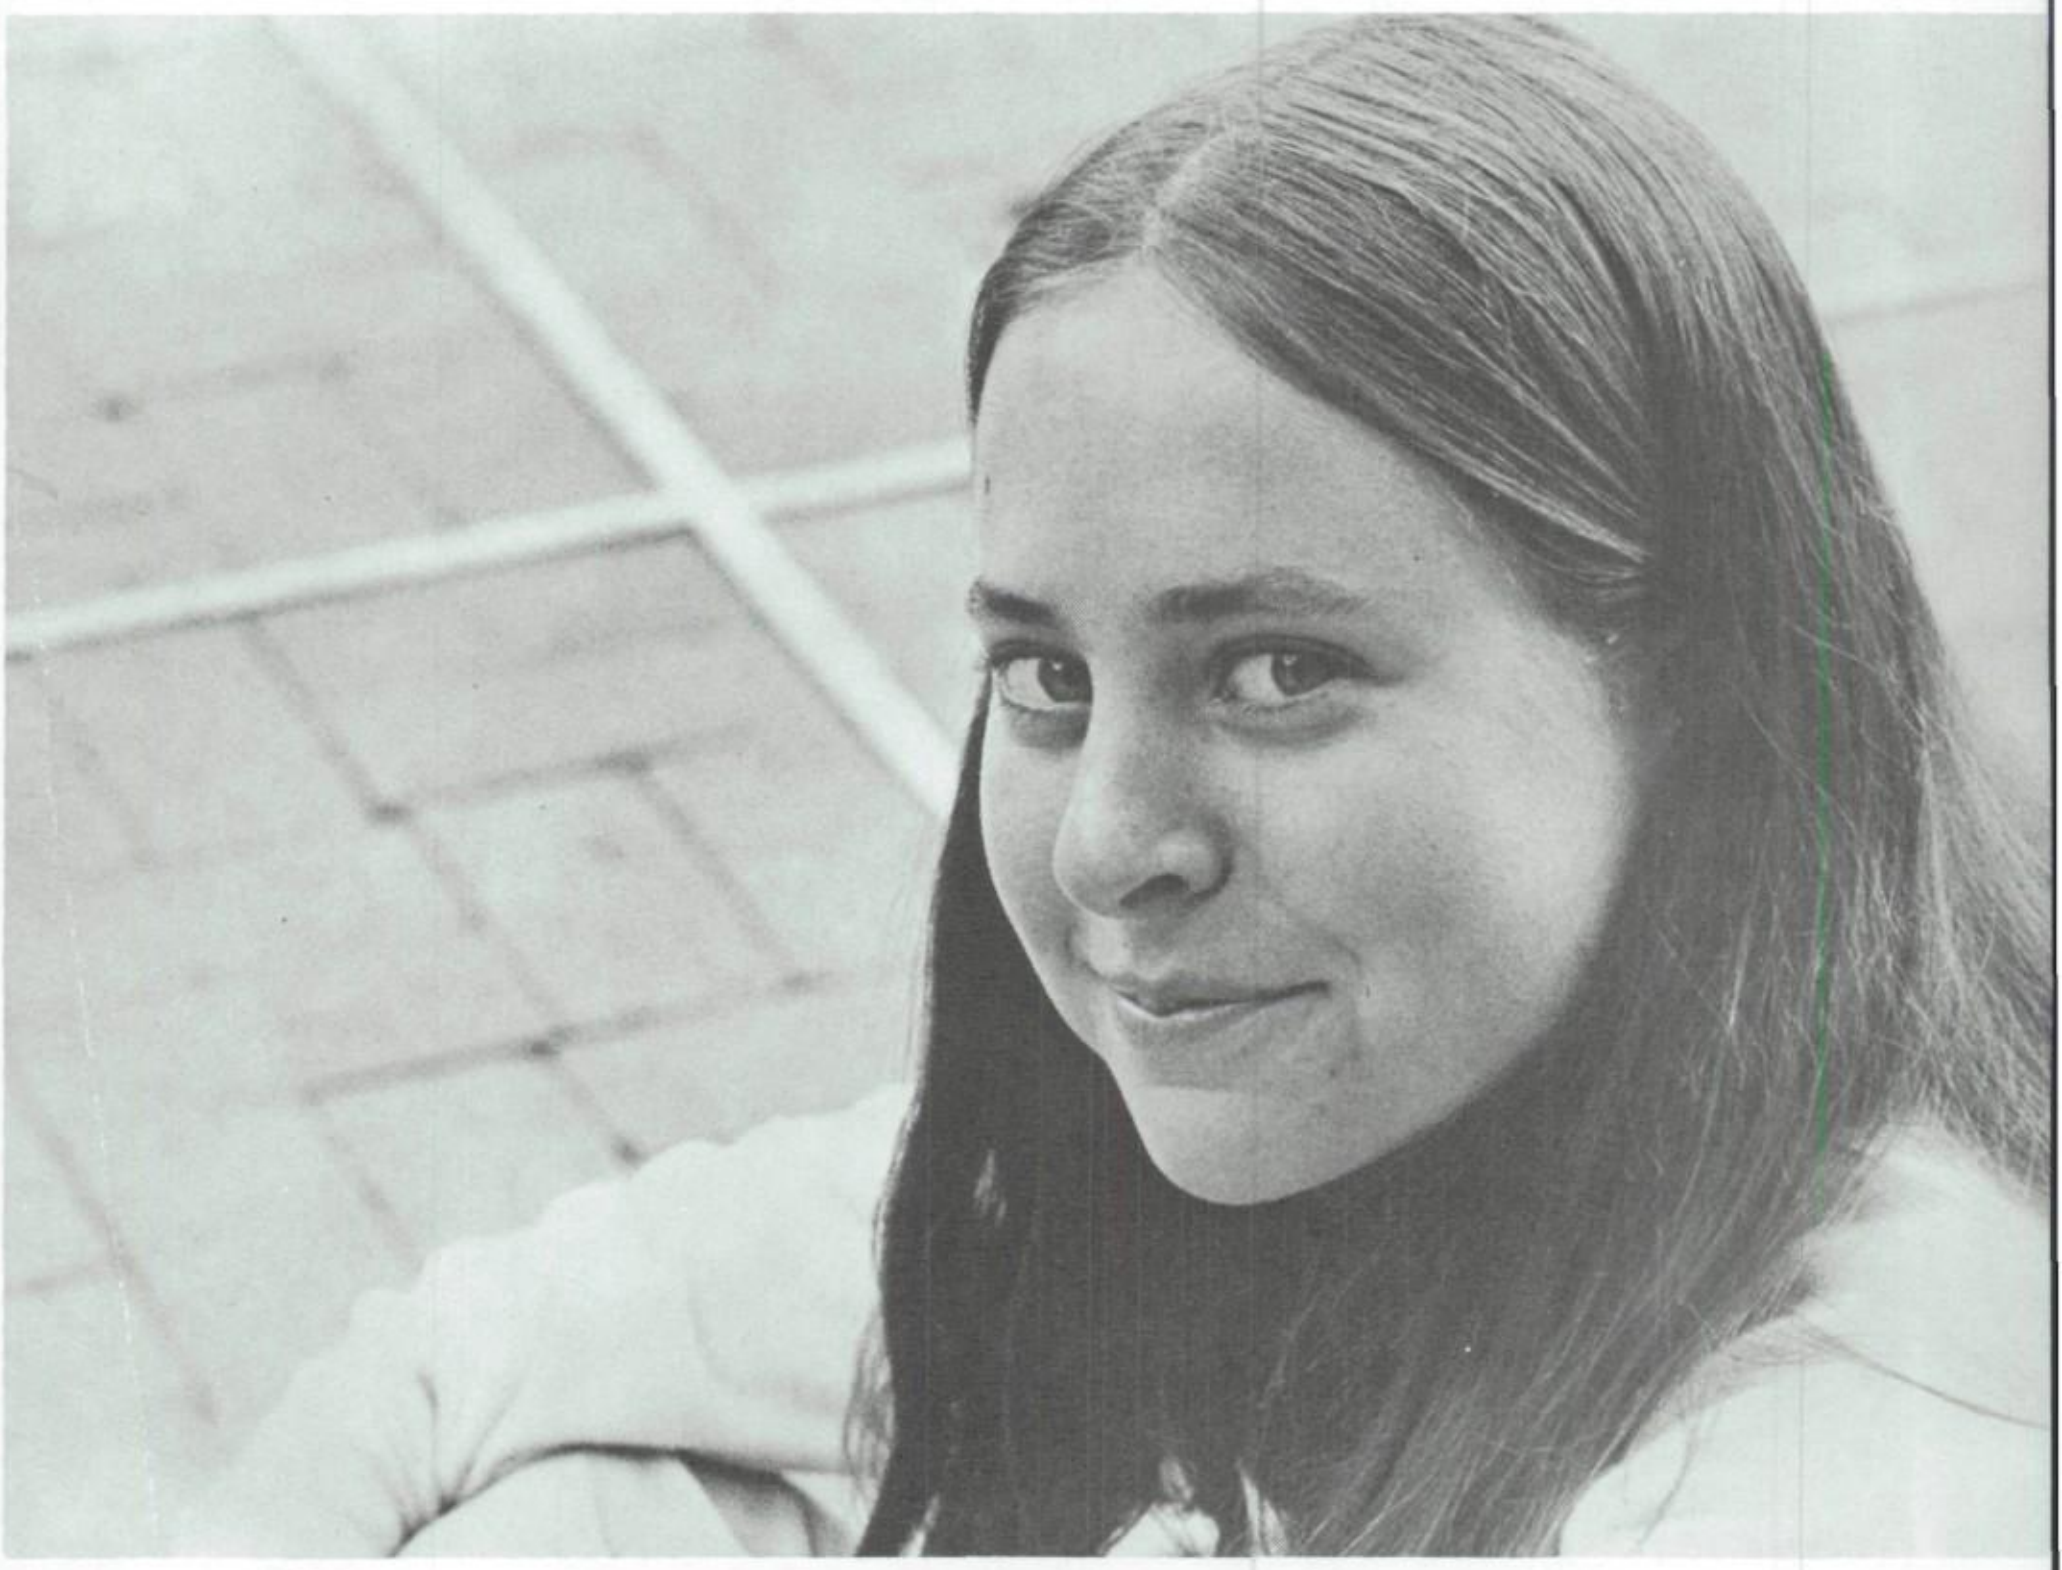
Granted these sugar plums are sweet in themselves; yet their richness may be complimented by honeydew sprinkled with Carey's salt.



Misty Todd

Indonesian Tea

The leaves of this subtly flavored tea grow in high places.
~ never dilute with cream and sugar but enjoy it pure.

Free Enterprise...

Free enterprise — the cornerstone of the American way of life. It's exemplified in the REALTOR, just one example of how Americans come together to transact business and make choices in a manner equitable to all.

Because we believe strongly in the American way, we have established a custom which we have carried out quietly over the years. To each of our home buyers we present an American flag with the hope he'll display it proudly on appropriate occasions. It's another symbol of our commitment to, and belief in, America.

The American Way

As a further commitment to our community, we make our offices available at no charge as meeting places for responsible civic and social groups, where they can meet, discuss, and plan for the betterment of the community.

Moore Realty — serving the entire metropolitan area. Doing business The Moore Way . . . because of The American Way.
